The Country Doctor . . . A Breed Nearing Extinction

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Recent years have seen the once-common country doctor virtually disappear from rural America, but while most of the movement has been to an urban setting, Phoenicia's only doctor took a different route. His views on a growing nationwide crisis, and a look at the future, are included in this series' final installment.)

By JON POWERS.

KINGSTON

Seventy per cent of all the doctors in Ulster County live or work in Kingston; ninety-seven per cent live or work in areas that contain less than 50 per cent of the county's total population. Kingston, New Paltz, Ellenville, Highland, Port Ewen, Woodstock and Stone Ridge own better than nine of every ten doctors in the county.

No matter how they're read, the statistics prove one uncontestable point: the once-prolific country doctor is a breed nearing extinction. And, as a result, thousands of county residents must live with the knowledge that they may have to weather an emergency without maximum medical care.

There is probably no one more qualified to speak on all the disadvantages of a country practice than a country doctor. Phoenicia's Dr. Elmer Baker is one of the few remaining.

Dr. Baker is the only practicing family physician in the Town of Shandaken. His patients are scattered over 118 miles of mountainous, wooded terrain, an area that represents roughly ten per cent of all of Ulster County.

And Dr. Baker is 86 years old.

Dr. Baker maintained a private practice in Brooklyn for 50 years before retiring and moving to Phoenicia in the early 1960's. But even then, doctors were at a premium in the Town of Shandaken. So, at the urging of the town board, Dr. Baker abandoned his retirement plans. He's been working full-time ever since.

Since the 1940's, Shandaken has seen just eight physicians move into the area. In time, all moved away, retired or died. The town board has formed a special committee to continue the search for reinforcements, without any appreciable success.

The isolation of a country office, Dr. Baker feels, is the major factor why rural communities find it almost impossible to attract new doctors. "You can't practice medicine without a lab," he said. "and all the modern testing equipment today is located in the cities." He noted that most doctors prefer to practice within easy reach of a hospital, where facilities for research and testing are available.

Social life, or lack of it, is also an important consideration. "There's nothing in the way of social life out here in the country," said Dr. Baker, "Take Phoenicia at six o'clock at night. The only places that are open are a few bars and ginmills. A young doctor wants more than that, and I'm sure his wife isn't going to put up with it either."

Special

Money, of course, is important, and most of the money today is in the cities. "Most of the people up here in the country are living on Social Security or pensions," Dr. Baker noted, "They just don't have any money to spare."

Dr. John B. Plass, president of the Ulster County Medical Society, offers an additional reason for the shortage of country doctors:

"The people out in the country want a doctor, but then they turn around and go to Kingston for their physical exams and pay $60, leaving the country doctor high and dry. Finally, the country doctor wises up and moves to Kingston and gets the $60 himself . . . People won't use the neighborhood doctor for the easy stuff. They want him around for emergencies at three or four in the morning, and that's all."

Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb, Jr., secretary of the county medical society, emphasized that "there is no shortage in the specialties, but there is a shortage of primary care physicians in the small communities." And, he added that the problem is not unique to Ulster County.

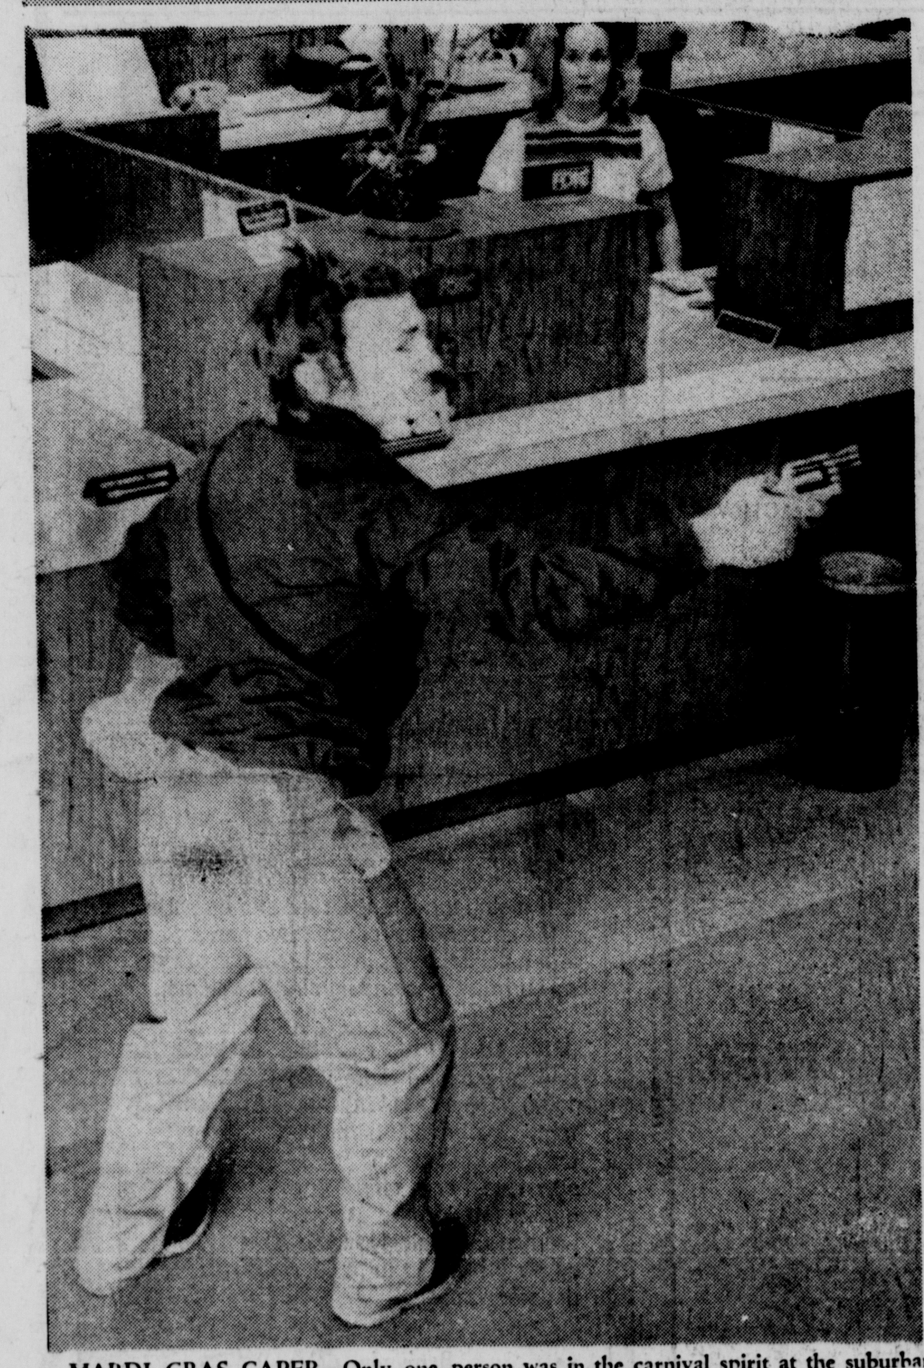

Dr. Holcomb offered another reason for the dearth of family doctors: the heavy emphasis placed on specialty practices in medical schools. Dr. Holcomb now sees "an upswing in the training of family practitioners," with "teaching institutes now trying to interest more young doctors in family practice." That may mean more general practitioners coming out of medical school in future years, but Dr. Holcomb emphasized that the process will be "gradual." And, there's still no reason to believe that they'll opt for a rural, rather than urban, setting.

Are there any solutions? Some communities favor construction of their own fully-equipped medical facility as an attraction to job hunting doctors. But even that answer has failed in some locales.

Many country areas are depending more and more on highly skilled volunteer ambulance squads. In many areas, such as Olive, Shandaken and Kerhonkson, emergency first aid and a speedy trip to the nearest hospital can often spell the difference between life and death.

Talk of a government subsidy for young doctors who agree to practice in a rural community may help alleviate the shortage, but many feel that a government subsidized general practice is still years away. Paramedics, too, may be a solution for the future, but supervision by a licensed physician is still required in many places.

The sparsity of neighborhood doctors in Ulster County only serves to underscore the tremendous value of first aid and ambulance squads, rapidly expanding hospital emergency room services and the few Dr. Baker's that serve the county's vast rural areas. For the people in these regions, that may just have to suffice for now.

Hanoi Claims Four Truce Delegates Killed

POW Release Stalled

PARIS (UPI) —Secretary of State William P. Rogers met today with the foreign ministers of the three Vietnam delegations to Paris but failed to solve the crisis brought by Hanoi's refusal to free more American prisoners of war, Communist delegates reported.

The crisis was heightened by Radio Hanoi charges that four Viet Cong truce team officers were killed and two others wounded Sunday in an ambush by South Vietnamese militiamen near the resort area of Dalat and Saigon reports the United States had virtually halted its troop withdrawal program.

Rogers talked for nearly three hours with the foreign ministers of North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong under instructions from President Nixon to drop other work at the 13-nation conference on Vietnam and try to resolve the POW impasse.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong foreign minister, said after today's meeting, "We have not arrived at any result during our discussion of the question of violations of the cease-fire by Saigon and the United States."

North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said, "The problem is very serious."

Related stories on page 40.

Asked if a solution had been found, he shook his head and said, "I can say nothing about that now."

The Hanoi delegation in Saigon announced Tuesday it would release no more American POWs until there was an end to the alleged cease-fire violations and until the Communist delegates received better treatment.

Nixon instructed Rogers to lodge a strong protest with the North Vietnamese foreign minister and to hold up further work at the conference, called to write cease-fire guarantees, until he obtained results. He had been expected to meet Trinh today but met instead with all three Vietnamese foreign ministers.

Madame Binh requested the four-way meeting to discuss what she said were violations of the cease-fire.

Rogers entered the talks with instructions from President Nixon to get an explanation from the North Vietnamese about why they failed to release the latest group of American war prisoners. The Communist statement indicated he had failed.

The ministers are in Paris attending a 13-party conference designed to guarantee a lasting peace in Vietnam, but the talks came to a halt when Nixon ordered Rogers to secure a clarification on the prisoners question before transacting any other conference business.

Asked if the four ministers would hold another meeting, Trinh refused to reply.

U.S. Suspends Withdrawals

SAIGON (AP) — The United States suspended its troop withdrawals from Vietnam today in an attempt to prod North Vietnam into releasing another large group of American prisoners of war, U.S. authorities report.

Hanoi also was given a virtual U.S. ultimatum to dismantle an antiaircraft missile base south of the demilitarized zone.

Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, the senior U.S. representative to the four-party Joint Military Commission, told the Communists the United States "reserves the right with its allies to take such actions as it deems appropriate" if the North Vietnamese do not remove the SAM batteries which the Americans and South Vietnamese say have been located at Khe Sanh since the cease-fire. This was assumed to be an implied threat of air attack on the missile sites.

No progress was reported from the meeting of the senior members of the commission, and a parallel meeting of a subcommission on captured persons also failed to resolve the POW stalemate.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said the Communists told the commission meeting the POW release was being delayed because the United States and South Vietnam were still not observing all provisions of the cease-fire agreement.

No further meetings were scheduled until Friday.

High-ranking authorities said that the U. S. Command, on orders from President Nixon, had suspended its troop pullouts with 11,300 Americans still in Vietnam.

Since the cease-fire Jan. 28, an average of two planes a day have been leaving Saigon with 400 Americans, but U.S. officials said none left today. There was also no activity at Camp Alpha, the processing center for departing Americans at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Some U.S. officials also suggested that Nixon may be considering withdrawing his offer of reconstruction aid to Hanoi and halting the mine-clearing operation in North Vietnamese waters until the Communists announce arrangements for the release of at least 130 more American POWs. According to the U.S. timetable, these prisoners should have been released Tuesday.

With the negotiations stalled, U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with President Nguyen Van Thieu. The U. S. military commander, Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, was called in, indicating that military aspects of the cease-fire were being reviewed.

A U.S. spokesman said the subcommission on prisoners discussed the return of Vietnamese prisoners, and no decisions were reached.

Indians Hold 10 Hostages

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Some 200 members of the American Indian Movement were in control of this small town today and were holding about 10 of its residents hostage, authorities reported.

One AIM leader said the Indians had vowed "to die if necessary" unless their demands were met.

About 90 law enforcement officers sealed off the area on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in southwestern South Dakota after the takeover Tuesday night by the militant Indian group.

Joseph H. Trimbach, special FBI agent in charge of the Minneapolis division, said the Indians were holding the hostages in the town's four or five buildings and shots were fired at any approaching car.

The town has a population of about 1 000.

Carter Camp, a national AIM coordinator reached by telephone, said we have made a complete committment to die if necessary" if the government was not willing to take steps to redress what the Indians regarded as injustices.

He said the demands included:

—"The Senate committee headed by Sen. Ted Kennedy launch an immediate investigation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Department of the Interior for their handling of the Ogallala Sioux nation."

—"That Sen. William Fulbright investigate the 371 treaties between the federal government and the Indians to show how the government has failed to live up to the terms of the treaties. We can prove the United States never keeps its treaty committments."

—"That the Ogallala Sioux be allowed to elect their own officials. Those now in office are just puppets. They need traditionalists."

Camp said the Indians were holding the priest of a Roman Catholic church among the hostages. "The church sits on high ground and gives a commanding view of the area. We have the men and the weapons to hold it."

Camp said a number of the Indians were armed with "high-powered" rifles.

Wounded Knee was the site in 1890 of a bloody battle between Sioux Indians and federal troops in which some 200 Indian men, women and children were killed. The battle, subject of the recent book "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee," marked an end to fighting between Indians and white men in the Dakota territories.

Jury Continues Deliberations In Ulster County Murder Trial

KINGSTON

An 11-man, one-woman jury continued deliberations today to determine the fate of William Edward Hill, accused in the strangulation murder of 67-year-old Mrs. Alice Upright on Aug. 15, 1972.

The jury began its deliberations at 2:35 p.m. Tuesday; adjourned for dinner at 6:45 p.m., then returned to the jury room two hours later. At 11:20 p.m. Tuesday, the jury retired for the night.

Defense attorneys Joshua Koplovitz and Richard Anthony, and District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, played the long waiting game Tuesday afternoon and night. Both Koplovitz and Anthony remained in the Ulster County Court House during the jury's seven hours of deliberations Tuesday.

In addition to deciding the guilt or innocence of Hill, the jury must also decide the degree of the alleged crime if a guilty verdict is reached.

Hill has been charged with two counts of murder. The first — intentional murder — alleges that Hill had a "conscious objective" to kill Mrs. Upright when he allegedly went to her home on Aug. 15.

In his hour-long charge Tuesday afternoon, County Court Judge Raymond J. Mino instructed the jurors that if they find that the defendant killed Mrs. Upright they must then decide the degree of the crime.

If the jury decides that Hill went to Mrs. Upright's home with the intent to cause serious physical injury, but not murder, the verdict must be first degree manslaughter, said Mino.

If it is decided that Hill acted in a reckless manner, but did not intend to either kill the woman or cause serious physical injury, Mino charged the jury to return a verdict of guilty to second degree manslaughter.

And, said Mino, if it is decided that Hill intended to kill the woman, the defendant must be found guilty of intentional murder.

In addition, Hill has been charged with felony murder, or the commission of a homicide during a felony crime (robbery). On that charge, the jury must return a verdict of either guilty or not guilty, Mino instructed.

In his final comment to the jury during summations Tuesday, District Attorney Vogt called on the panel to return guilty verdicts to both the intentional and felony murder charges.

"Any other verdict," said Vogt, "would be an absolute travesty of the law."

Vogt's summation lasted some 50 minutes, and most of that time was deovted to a review of the evidence that the prosecution maintains connects Hill directly to the alleged crime.

One of the most damaging pieces of evidence against the defendant is a pair of white gloves found under the front seat of his car. Mrs. Bianca Smith, Mrs. Upright's niece, testified during the trial that she gave those same gloves to her aunt five years ago.

"There's no doubt that those gloves came from the Upright home," said Vogt, "and no drove the car that night except Hill . . . What are the odds against such a coincidence?"

Vogt also commented on the sometimes disjointed testimony of material witness Robert Hedrick, Hill's stepbrother. "Witnesses are like relatives," said Vogt, "You can't pick them. We are forced to take Hedrick as he is. But we didn't need Hedrick's testimony to prove this case. Hill's statement points to his guilt."

That statement referred to by Vogt was the oral confession Hill gave to police the night he was arrested. "Hill is no stranger to the law," said Vogt, "he knows his rights. No one beat him up. He was treated fairly. Hill knew the jig was up, so he gave the statement. It happens every day."

Vogt also took exception to the defense's contention that Hill confessed to the crime in detail only after Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman explained to him exactly what happened. "Hill told Lisman certain things (about the alleged murder) only he could have known," said Vogt, "Lisman didn't feed him any information. Lisman's an honorable man."

"The evidence of this man's (Hill's) guilt is simply overwhelming," said Vogt. "If you have any doubts, I ask you to bear in mind the last hours of Mrs. Upright. What a horror they must have been."

During his summation, Koplovitz maintained repeatedly that Hill's confession to police was meant only to protect his stepbrother, whom police were holding as a suspect. And he emphasized that, although he made an oral confession, he never signed a written statement confession to the alleged crime.

Koplovitz also told the jury that the prosecution introduced much circumstantial evidence into the case, but could not prove that the defendant committed the alleged crime "beyond a shadow of a doubt."

SALVATION ARMY CENTER—The new Salvation Army center on Cedar Street will have a roof over its head shortly, with a spring occupancy forecast. The $200,000 building will house an auditorium, day care center, senior citizen facilities and offices. The Salvation Army will be moving its headquarters from the Hoffman House at the corner of North Front Street and Green Street which it has occupied since 1908. The Hoffman House, more than 250 years old, is now owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

State Audit... 'City Books in Order'

KINGSTON — The State Department of Audit and Control has released its audit of the City of Kingston for the period covering Jan. 1, 1969 to Dec. 31, 1971 and except for what appears to be minor criticisms of some bookkeeping procedures, indicates that the city is conducting its fiscal affairs within the limits of the law.

Audit and Control does not pass judgment on how or why money is spent or on how or from where it is received; its reports deal with operational procedures to insure that the city meets state mandated accounting procedures.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig had no comment on the report. He said he received it last Friday and has not had the opportunity to review it.

The auditors criticized the city treasurer for late payments of school taxes to the school board; also noted that when the city sold properties in tax sales that the taxes owed the school district were not promptly paid and also noted that the city's tax sales were not all encompassing in that "several unpaid tax items were not advertised and therefore were not sold. Care should be taken to insure that all unpaid tax items are advertised and sold."

Note also was made of what the auditor claimed "overpayment" of certain city officials, such as an additional $1,047 to the assessor and $1,000 each to the city clerk and city treasurer. The auditor reports that those salaries were in excess of those authorized in the city charter.

(It appears that the problem lies in a failure to update the charter since those salary increases were approved by the Common Council and the charter amended to reflect the increases)

The report also noted that there was no records to indicate that bids had been requested by public advertisement for the purchase of fuel oil in the fire department. All bids over $1,000 must be advertised.

The auditors were also critical of the fee schedule, or rather the lack of a fee schedule, for the use of the Municipal Auditorium. The report states. "Fees for the use of the municipal auditorium have not been established in the city charter. Various fees are charged for the use of the auditorium by the Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council. It is recommended that a legal basis be established for the determination of such fees."

The auditors also found a deficiency of $110 in the Traffic Violations Bureau covering the period from Jan. 21, 1970 through Jan. 22, 1971 and recommended that the city take action to recover that amount.

Eastern States Shaken by Tremor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

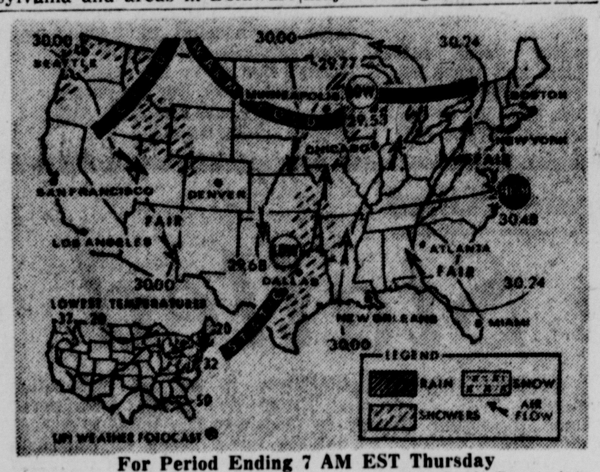

A tremor shook eastern Pennsylvania and areas in Delaware and Maryland for several seconds early today. No injuries or major damage were reported.

The tremor at about 3:30 a.m. EST prompted an avalanche of phone calls to police, fire departments and the news media.

A spokesman for the National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo., said it had no initial measurement of any East Coast tremor. He added that any tremor would not be connected with the "major earthquake" centered in the Kuril Islands in the northern Pacific at 1:38 a.m. EST today.

The Kuril Islands quake registered a 7.5 on the Richter scale, as compared with the 6.2 Richter mark earthquake that devastated Managua, Nicaragua, last December.

A NEIC spokesman said the Kuril Islands quake was shallow and apparently caused extensive surface waves. But the Shemya tide station in the Aleutians reported that the Pacific quake did not generate seismic waves.

For Period Ending 7 AM EST Thursday

Showers are expected from the western Gulf Coast into portions of the Southern Plains and the Middle Mississippi Valley. Scattered showers are also forecast for the Northwest Pacific Coast and the Northern Rockies. A slight warming trend will be noted in the eastern states with little change elsewhere. 2.5 Food Increase

Higher Farm Prices Are Blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that higher farm prices were entirely to blame for last month's record 2.5-per-cent increase in supermarket food costs. Beef and pork prices hit record highs; eggs were up 18 per cent.

Middlemen, including those who buy farm products, transform them into retail items and sell to consumers, actually absorbed part of the January increase, the department said in a report.

Translated into annual terms, a "market basket" of food—theoretically enough to feed a typical family for an entire year—cost a record $1,375 in January. That was $37 more than the annual rate in December.

The 2.5-per-cent increase for the market basket was the largest since the government began gauging costs of take-home groceries in 1952.

The "farm value," or a farmer's share of what consumers pay for food, was $588 in January, up $40 from December. The middleman took $787 in January, down $3 from December.

Compared with a year earlier, the January market basket cost $102 more, including a boost of $85 for farmers and $17 for middlemen.

Today's report dealt only with retail food items which originate on U.S. farms. Imported products and seafood are not included in the market-basket calculations.

The department two weeks ago predicted that supermarket food prices for all of 1973 may go up 6 to 6.5 per cent, with the pressure on consumers expected to ease later in the year as more livestock and other products move to market.

Meantime, today's report showed that prices advanced in January for most of the basic food needed by family meal-planners.

"Substantially higher prices for beef, pork, poultry, eggs and fresh vegetables accounted for most of the rise," the report said.

Farmers, who saw their share of consumer food spending rise 7.1 per cent in January an average 16.9 per cent above a year earlier realized some of the sharpest gains for livestock products such as beef and pork.

Meat as a group accounts for nearly 30 per cent of the average family's grocery bill, according to government economists.

Governors Concerned Over Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reacting to complaints from many governors, Nixon administration officials have indicated a willingness to reconsider some of their planned domestic cutbacks.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger told reporters Tuesday night that the administration would be willing to review the cutbacks in light of the governors' priorities.

Weinberger, a member of the administration team meeting with the National Governors Conference at the White House today, said "we might very well make some changes" in proposed social-services guidelines, a favorite target of city and state officials.

Earlier Tuesday, Frank Carlucci, Weinberger's deputy, told a group of governors that the administration might be willing to modify its timetable for reducing many domestic programs.

Democratic governors planned to seek assurances at the White House that the cutbacks, if maintained, would be gradual instead of abrupt.

Even some of the Republican governors, who have publicly backed the administration in its fight to tighten the budget, were expected to use the privacy of the White House meeting to air concern about cutbacks.

Besides Weinberger, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, presidential aides John Ehrlichman, Henry Kissinger and Kenneth Cole, and Cabinet members George P. Shultz, James Lynn and Earl L. Butz were scheduled to meet with the governors.

After the meetings, the governors were scheduled for a luncheon on Capitol Hill with House and Senate leaders from both parties.

The Democrats, meanwhile, were drafting a resolution that their chairman, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, expects to be passed unanimously Thursday. It criticizes the budget cuts and President Nixon's refusal to spend money appropriated for various domestic programs.

Bumpers said Democrats have no plans to seek approval of their resolution by the full governors conference. That takes a three-fourths vote, and Democrats hold only a 31-19 margin.

Earlier, Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, a Democrat who is this year's conference chairman, assured Republicans at a closed executive committee meeting that he wouldn't seek to turn the conference into a partisan clash.

But party lines were distinctly evident Tuesday at a hearing before Sen. Edmund S. Muskies' intergovernmental-relations subcommittee, at which four Democratic governors criticized Nixon and two Republicans defended him.

Embezzlement Trial For Ex-Sgt. Major

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — After a one-day postponement, the U.S. Army's former top enlisted man goes on trial today on charges of taking kickbacks and payoffs from the operation of servicemen's clubs in Vietnam.

The trial of William O. Wooldridge and two others had been scheduled to start Tuesday but was postponed following morning and afternoon closed-door conferences in the chambers of U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson.

Wooldridge's attorney, Robert M. Talcott, said the delay was for 'consideration of pretrial matters." He denied there was any move by any of the three defendants to plead guilty, as did another former enlisted man in the case.

Wooldridge, 50, is a much-decorated veteran who retired from the Army last February, one year after he and the others were indicted by a federal grand jury.

As the sergeant major of the Army from July, 1966, to August, 1968, he was an advisor to the Army chief of staff on enlisted matters and was the service's top enlisted man. He was sergeant major of the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam before his assignment in Washington, D.C., and then returned to Southeast Asia for another tour of duty as sergeant major of the Military Assistance Command, Vietnam (MACV).

But he later was stripped of command authority and a Distinguished Service Medal following a 1969 U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing which disclosed evidence of a so-called "Khaki Cosa Nostra" in the operation of servicemen's clubs.

A 21-count federal indictment in February, 1971, charged Wooldridge and his codefendants with masterminding the embezzlement of thousands of dollars from servicemen's clubs they managed in Vietnam.

Still facing trial with Wooldridge are William E. Higdon, former secretary-custodian of the noncommissioned officers open mess system at U.S. Army, Republic of Vietnam (USARV), and Theodore Bass, the general manager of Vietnam of Maredom Ltd., a Fullerton, Calif., firm allegedly owned by several of the defendants and which sold supplies to the clubs in Vietnam.

Another defendant, Seymour Lazar, former secretary-custodian of the 1st Infantry Division's open mess system and later president and general manager of Maredom, pleaded guilty to lesser charges last year.

A fifth defendant, Narvaez Hatcher, died at his home in Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 18.

Two civilian defendants, Charles and Irene Terhune, fled to England. The British government had denied their extradition.

A key witness in the case, Pelegrino J. Pellegrini, was found bludgeoned to death in his San Mateo, Calif., office last year.

'Grave Economic Mistakes' . . .

Proxmire Puts Blame on Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., charged President Nixon today with "grave economic mistakes" that have fueled inflation and not cut deeply enough into unemployment.

Speaking for congressional Democrats, Proxmire said "in the past four years, the American economy has begun to falter."

He cited the first deficit in the balance of trade in 80 years, unemployment higher than in other major industrial nations, and the second devaluation of the dollar.

". . . We vigorously protest the grave economic mistakes of the President that would do little about unemployment and are pushing us into an inflation that will cost your pocketbook dearly."

He added, "our answer is to cut inflationary military and foreign aid spending and channel some but not all of these funds into programs that will not only make for a more humane America, but a stronger country and one in which housing will be built, the unskilled labor trained and the food produced to hold down the prices you pay."

The Wisconsin senator, vice chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, was chosen by congressional Democrats to reply to Nixon's radio address on the economy last week. The networks provided equal time.

Proxmire said the "mistaken and weak economic policies that forces the administration to devalue are unfortunately not the end of the story. You and I as consumers face higher prices because of even more important blunders by the administration."

He said Nixon was proposing a $19 billion increase in federal spending during fiscal 1974 which, if approved by Congress, would mean another "mammoth federal deficit . . ."

He added, "what is stunning about this reckless $19 billion inflationary increase in spending is that it comes at the end of the war.

"This will be the first time ever the country has increased its spending when a war was over," Proxmire said.

Proxmire denied that the Democratically controlled Congress will increase spending even more.

"Absolutely not," Proxmire said. "We would oppose some of the President's cuts because they are cruel and even inflationary.

"But we would cut far deeper than the President in some programs and we would restore to others only part of the reduction we would make."

Senate Committee Questions Gray

WASHINGTON (AP) — L. Patrick Gray III went before the Senate Judiciary Committee today for questioning about his nomination to be director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Gray has been acting director since the death last May of J. Edgar Hoover.

The only committee member who has announced he will vote against the 56-year-old Connecticut lawyer and close friend of President Nixon is Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

Byrd, assistant Senate Democratic leader, has called Gray written and in-flight testing. openly partisan and said he has used the FBI for political purposes.

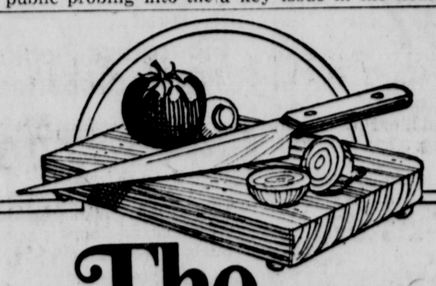

Gray is the first FBI director to be subject to Senate confirmation and his nomination provides an unusual opportunity for a public probing into the role and operations of the agency.

A few of the specific issues expected to be raised include the FBI's priorities in law enforcement, the extent of its wiretapping, and the thoroughness of its investigation into the burglary and wiretapping of Democratic national headquarters.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, said he had been advised the complete FBI file in the bugging case will be made available to panel members for inspection.

Eastland, who supports Gray's nomination, credits him with having done a fine job as director and says he knows of nothing political he has done.

However, witnesses who have asked to testify have indicated that the question of whether Gray has or would attempt to politicize the FBI is likely to be a key issue in the hearings.

Letters to the Editor From Readers

Open Letter

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr.
25th District
House Office Building
Washington, D. C., 20510
Dear Sir,

I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter to this local and thank you for your confidence in our efforts to provide the best service to the public as we are capable of doing under the circumstances.

It has been a long tradition in the postal service to resolve our problems without resorting to exposing them to the public. As we all know the day of secrecy is coming to a close, the time has come for public disclosure of the ineffective postal service. Therefore, with great reluctance, I wish to bring to your attention a recent decision made by management in the Poughkeepsie Sectional Center Facility. We feel the decision to change the work schedule of employees working the Sectional Center mail will have an adverse effect on mail delivery in your district.

Employees in the postal service have always been exploited in their working conditions for the "good of the service". This exploitation has been accepted as a way of life to protect managements inefficiency and we have no choice except to "take it or leave it". We have been fully aware of the power management has in making decisions and putting them into effect even though more often than not they have failed.

Aside from the fact that we are forced to accept changes in work schedules, which I might add is highly unusual in private sectors of business, we are convinced that the schedule change in our time to process mail for the Poughkeepsie Sectional Center is a mistake. We argued against the change but it was to no avail.

I bring this to your attention in order that all the postal patrons in your district and in the area of Zip Code 125 should be made aware that an extreme delay of mail delivery which may occur in the near future is due to the decreasing of time used on processing their mail. Management has decided to place more emphasis and priority on mail being sent out of the Sectional Center by increasing the time spent on processing such mail.

The concept of processing mail in a Sectional Center has been destroyed because of managements incompetency. Proof of this is in the fact that mail which was originally designated to be processed in a central location, to reduce the problem of rehandling, is now being sent to offices in the Sectional Center for sorting and then returned to the Sectional Center for dispatch. For instance: we pack a sack of raw mail, unworked, and send it to Wassaic Post Office, they in turn sort the mail and send it bak to us and then we send it back out to Post Offices which may be just a few miles from Wassaic. This procedure is used throughout the Sectional Center as far North as Philmont; South to Beacon, Southwest to Cornwall; West to Vails Gate and East to Millerton. In all fairness, I wish to emphasize that this is done with Third Class mail only but the question of mail delay is still at issue.

You can multiply the number of sacks and offices by hundreds and come to your own conclusion on whether the Sectional Center concept is successful. For employees to be a part of this failure and disservice is no longer tolerable. We need a complete review of these inequities and we, as a local, support the return of the postal service to Congressional control. Thank you.

Respectfully yours,
Gennaro R. Scafa
President

Postal Clerks

Curriculum

Editor, The Freeman:

Is SEX education the real and only problem that faces the parents and educators of the Kingston Consolidated School District? It is not! Sex education is the tip of an iceberg, that has shown its ugly head in the school district over the past few months. The closer you get to it the uglier it becomes. From a distance it looks like an excellent addition to the educational programs, but beware. Hidden beneath all the frills of the so called progressive education are the seeds of one of the most diabolical programs ever implimented in the Country.

For years school boards have accepted the recommendations and mandates of the State Education Department (S.E.D.) as the Bible. The time has come for local school boards to question all recommendations and mandates of S.E.D. Especially with the current uproar over the manner in which Mr. Nyquist is running the S.E.D. including his hiring of a Communist, fresh from Red China, as a curriculum consultant.

Until this year the calibre and level of education in the Kingston School system appears to have been excellent, but the groundwork has been set up so that all kinds of evils can creep in. The loop holes in the current educational program give the teacher a free hand to do almost anything he or she pleases with our children in the classroom. Sure there are some rules and regulations, but they only cover discipline or things such as group prayer. There would be no problem if all our teachers and administrators were of the highest religious and moral character. Unfortunately some of the educators we are getting today can not be trusted to train our dogs let alone educate our children. Given the opportunity they will distort the minds of our children turning them against us, our various religions, and even our Country.

The curriculum uses such terminology as; Development of attitudes, Personality development, Social interaction, and Sensitivity training, to name a few. What is meant by such phrases? How will these objectives be accomplished; for what reasons; and by whom? The administrators and teachers of the school system are hired by the taxpayers of the school district to educate our children, not to indoctrinate and brainwash them.

For God and Country,
I remain,
ATTILIO A. CONTINI

A Correction

Editor, The Freeman:

It would be very much appreciated if an error either of reporting by Wade Burkhardt or in getting his copy into the presses themselves could be corrected. The entire significance of the topic is lost in the present form of the last sentence of an article in last Friday evening's Freeman, headed "New Paltz Trustee Charges Partisan Village Elections." Specifically, with regard to the request for a one-word answer to the candidates' feeling about whether we were satisfied with the condition of Main Street, your article concludes: "They all answered 'no' with the exception of Igou. He answered 'yes'."

As a matter of fact, this was a rather unreasonable question to be submitted for only a one-word reply. I have a strong feeling that all four of us could have pointed out a number of improvements that have taken place within the past few years, and even months, but a "yes" reply suggests that nothing more need be done. If one answered "no", he was necessarily ignoring or deprecating the efforts of a number of merchants and residents of Main Street to try to improve the picture in a number of ways, the details of which I shall not go into at this time.

As a result, my answer to the question was the only sensible one which came to mind: "Nes!" The double-talking word and its implications were obviously clearly heard and understood by those present Thursday evening. Thus, you can appreciate my concern when the Freeman reports my answer as "yes."

Thank you for your cooperation in relaying to your readers my actual reply.

Sincerely,
O. LINCOLN IGOU

Community Action

Editor, The Freeman:

By this time, most people are aware of the intentions of the President to eliminate the office of Economic Opportunity and all community action agencies from the national scene. To some, this may seem like a good thing: to others, it will mean the end of any opportunity for them to be heard.

The primary problem with the actions of the Executive Branch of our government is the drastic measures being used to achieve this elimination. Not only has the President usurped the funding powers that should rightfully belong to the Congress, but he has moved so quickly that it is clear that he does not intend to permit the people of the hired staff of these agencies time to negotiate other areas of support, such as local governments or private and public institutions.

We who have worked with and for the elderly, the poor, the economically and educationally disadvantaged for the last seven years, need help.

If we had not been successful in raising the questions relating to the poor and disenfranchised of this nation, we would not present any threat to the current administration. The fact is we have made people aware of social problems. We have begun to create, in our various committees, an understanding of the needs of our people. We have served as a bridge over which the deep racial hostilities have been dealt with. We have developed programs to relieve the stress of economic pressure on the lower income citizens of this nation.

There is still much to be done. By no means have we solved the full problems of our poor. In order to do this, it is necessary that we, as a nation, wish to solve these problems. It is obvious that when this nation determines to achieve an end, it can be done. Look to the space program and the unbelievable achievements made in technical knowledge. If the United States can reach the Moon, if we can monitor Mars and Jupiter, we can create equal opportunity for our citizens here on earth.

We request that the concerned people of our communities take positive action on behalf of the elderly, the poor, and the disadvantaged by writing to their Congressman Fish, Gilman or Robison, and their Senators Javits and Buckley. We also request that positive action be taken on behalf of these representatives in Congress by insisting that the power of government not be placed in the hands of a few select individuals. This issue is not just one of the have nots. It is an issue of the preservation of our constitutionally established government.

It has been with pride that we have served under the banner of community action. It is with a candid acknowledgement of our shortcomings and a sincere desire to move forward in spite of these shortcomings that we now seek the earnest support of all people.

Yours truly,
KAY CAMBONE
Mid-Hudson Cluster of Community Action Agencies

Appreciation

Editor, The Freeman:

Somewhere along the way, I remember an old adage that goes like this: "WE FLATTER THE FLEETING GUEST, AND DEAL MANY A THOUGHTLESS BLOW TO THOSE WE LOVE THE BEST".

Since I was still floating in my helium-filled balloon after the incomparable success of "The Pink Lemonade and Cotton Candy Ball," you must excuse my continued state of animation, which realistically came to earth, and has finally culminated in publicly thanking the members of the staff of The Daily Freeman for their encouragement, and the fine manner in which all the publicity for the Ball was presented to the public.

On behalf of the members of the Auxiliary of the Kingston Hospital, and those who worked with such dedication on the various committees, it is a small measure of appreciation to publicly thank The Daily Freeman for their part in making this year's Ball, one of the finest and most successful in Auxiliary history.

A very special thank you to Mrs. Dorothy Narel and Miss Joan Woinoski of the Society Department, and to Mr. Richard L. Treat. Without the complete enthusiasm and concern of so many who were willing to give so much to help all of us, the Ball could never have attained such stature.

What is more significant however, is that together . . . we were able to mold basic ingredients . . . the fun of a COMMUNITY, SOCIAL and CHARITABLE effort. We will always be grateful. And, we do "LOVE (The Daily Freeman) THE BEST!"

In grateful appreciation,
DOROTHY C. RIFENBARY,
Chairman

UN Aviation Agency Debates Israeli Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The UN aviation agency debates today whether to condemn Israel for shooting down a Libyan airliner and at the same time launches a fact-finding investigation into the Sinai Desert tragedy last week.

Egypt, Yugoslavia and 18 African and Asian countries demanded both condemnation of the Jewish state and an immediate investigation in a resolution submitted late Tuesday to an assembly of the International Civil Aviation Organization.

The session Tuesday of the 125-nation body showed that an investigation was agreeable to all. Israel itself approved, asking for an impartial, "calm and sober" probe into why its jet pilot fired on the airliner over the territory east of the Suez Canal that it has occupied since 1967.

American and some other Western delegates sought to temper the condemnation part of the resolution in the interests of cooling Middle East tension. They hoped for a compromise resolution deploring the loss of 106 lives in the tragedy and urging efforts to avert such incidents in the future.

However, countries critical of Israel hold a commanding majority in the organization.

The Israeli government contends that the downing of the plane was a tragic accident caused by mistakes on both sides, but that the French pilot of the airliner and the Cairo control tower were chiefly to blame.

The Soviet delegate charged at the session Tuesday that Israel had made a "premeditated attack" on the airliner.

PRAYER SESSION—Despite a ruling from Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist that prayer meetings in school are "constiutionally impermissible", several Mohonasen High School pupils continue to hold 10 minute prayer sessions at the school. The school board gave permission for the meetings even though the 1963 U.S. Supreme Court decision ruled out prayer in public schools. Nyquist's ruling upset the school board's permission for the meetings, but the students, who pointed out that Congress and the State Legislature open with prayers, decided to keep up the practice. 'Women's Lib'... A Lively Debate

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)— One female senator said some of the debate was an "insult."

A male senator pleaded with his colleagues not to bow to what is "fashionable and faddish."

And the "women's lib" issue was on in full cry again in the state Senate Tuesday.

The lively debate occurred over a proposed amendment to the Civil Service Law that would change the wording regarding rules for appointing police officers to eliminate the word "male" and substitute "person."

The proposal would in no way change any requirements for appointment and separate physical standards would still be permitted for male and female police officers.

Its sponsor, Sen. Richard E. Hudson, explained the word change was necessary if the state were to qualify for $1.2 million in federal police training funds.

The debate began quietly enough, with most of the male senators appearing super - cautious in efforts to avoid offending the three women senators.

As the debate ranged further from the original bill, however, and finally approached the area of women in general police work, Sen. Ralph J. Marino, R—Syosset, suggested a woman might use a gun more swiftly than a male police officer becuuse of the differences in physical strength.

Sen. Mary Ann Krupsak, D—Canajoharie, immedittely responded that Marino's statement indicated he thought women would have a different emotional response to physical danger, and she argued this was not true. She said his suggestion that a woman might use a weapon more quickly than a man was an "insult."

Near the end of the debate, Sen. Fred J. Eckert, RC-Rochester, noted that it was fashionable and faddish" to utilize women police officers, and asked his colleagues to resist pressures to place females in traditionally male jobs.

The bill was approved, 43-9, and sent to Governor Rockefelle. The Assembly passed the measure last week.

28 Hofstra Students Arrested in Raid

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Nassau County police arrested 28 Hofstra University students in a dawn raid Tuesday and charged them with sale of dangerous drugs.

The raiding party, 70 police officers in plainclothes, arrived at the campus in two chartered buses, which were used to ferry the arrested students back to County Court in Mineola for arraignment. Two students were arrested at their homes.

Police Commissioner Louis Frank labeled the arrested students "hard-core pushers" and said the raiders confiscated marijuana, hashish, amphetamines, barbiturates, cociane, LSD, mescaline, pipes, needles and other narcotics equipment.

The raid, which was conducted with the approval of university officials, was the result of a five-month investigation during which undercover agents purchased drugs from students. Police were on the Long Island campus for a total of 45 minutes.

Frank said the raid came as the result of indictments handed up last week by a Nassau County grand jury. Six other students were being sought in the investigation, he said.

'Bus Didn't Stop'...Witness

NEW CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy who watched from his bedroom window as a freight train rammed into a school bus has testified that the bus did not stop before the grade crossing accident that claimed five lives.

John Fitzgerald, a fourth-grader who said he likes watching trains, testified Tuesday as a prosecution witness in the criminally negligent homicide trial of Joseph Larkin, the bus driver.

"I was up in my bedroom throwing my football around, over the desk and onto the bed, and I heard a train whistle," the boy said. "I went to my window."

The Fitzgerald home in Congers, N.Y., is 200 feet from the Penn Central grade crossing where the train-bus collision killed five Nyack High School students and injured 44 others.

Under questioning by prosecutor Kenneth Gribbetz, the youngster said: "I saw the train hit the bus." Asked by Gribbetz whether he saw the bus stop at the crossing, the boy said no. But when the prosecutor asked whether he saw the bus slow down, he said:

"Yes, if bended down in front of Doc Davies' cornfield. Then it looked like it went faster."

Teachers Vote in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia public school teachers today give a yea or nay to a tentative contract agreement reached after their bitter eight-week strike. Approval by the city's 13,000 teachers was expected in the balloting.

Agreement on the four-year contract was reached Tuesday following marathon negotiating sessions between the school board and the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers (PFT).

The settlement brought cancellation of a one-day general work stoppage planned today by area labor leaders to protest the city's handling of the longest school strike in its history.

Klepak Gets $40 Thousand Post

Rocky Names 'Special Assistant'

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Although Governor Rockefeller still faces a tough legislative fight over the creation of an education inspector general, the governors' choice for the watchdog post goes to work Thursday with a slightly less romantic title.

Daniel Klepak, a 55 - year-old deputy commissioner in the State Health Department, was named Tuesday by Rockefeller's office as a $40,975 a year "special assistant to the governor."

Klepaks' duties, to develop plans "to review performance in primary and secondary public schools in relation to expenditures," exactly parallel the role outlined for the education inspector general in the governor's annual message to the legislature in January.

The appointment confirms what UPI quoting informed sources, reported in January—that Klepak, an administrator with a reputation for toughness and fairness, would get the inspector general post.

Rockefeller proposed the new overseer job after one years' relatively successful experience with an inspector general for welfare, which has turned up evidence of extensive cheating, and some outright fraud in the Social Services system.

However, as one observer said, "there are no ineligible children in the schools," and the education post faces a stiff battle in the legislature before the idea can become a reality. Among those opposed to the idea are the state's Board of Regents and Education Commissioner Ewald B. Nyquist.

Nyquist, on Monday, repeated his charges that the inspector general would duplicate the quality and cost control programs of the Education Department and would violate the constitutional separation of his department and the executive branch of state government.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, the states' elected watchdog, opposes the plan because he says it duplicates the efforts of his office.

Klepak has worked for the state under both Democratic and Republican governors since 1941. He has been moved from one department to another, "usually to get them straightened out and running smoothly," one reliable source said.

Klepak is a graduate of Siena College and holds a master's degree in public administration from Syracuse University.

He joined the Health Department in 1967 as assistant commissioner for hospital affairs. He assumed his present post as deputy commissioner for administration a year later.

He will start in his new job Thursday.

Agency to Ease Development

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Adirondack Park Agency has decided to ease development restrictions and increase the role of local government under the revised version of its master plan for private-land use in the region, according to several agency sources.

The changes in the plan, which is to be submitted to the legislature and governor next week, also include some 500 modifications in the map which classifies the private lands in the park according to six land-use categories.

The over-all effect of the changes, agency sources said, Tuesday, is a weakening of the plan's restrictions on development of the 3.7-million acres of private land.

But it was unclear whether the weakening would be enough to mollify the agency's critics or to pose a serious threat of uncontrolled development that conservationists say would damage the scenic and natural resources of the park.

The original draft of the plan was subjected to fierce criticism from Adirondack area residents at a series of public hearings and from the areas' Republican legislators, who introduced a bill to delay consideration of the plan until next year.

The revised version increases from 10 to 15 the number of buildings to be allowed on each square mile in the most restrictive land-use category, which covers half the acreage.

In acreage terms, that means the revised plan would allow one building for every 43 acres in the most restrictive category, instead of every 64 acres, as in the preliminary version. The density guidelines for the other categories will be similarly loosened.

The major weakening of the plan, however, has apparently occurred in the remapping, or reclassification, of lands near villages and other settlements.

Local governments requested some 800 changes in the map, must of them near populated areas, and the agency granted some 500 of those.

Most of the changes placed the affected property in less-restrictive classifications for which the density guidelines are very liberal or nonexistent and over which the agency's powers to supervise local zoning actions is reduced.

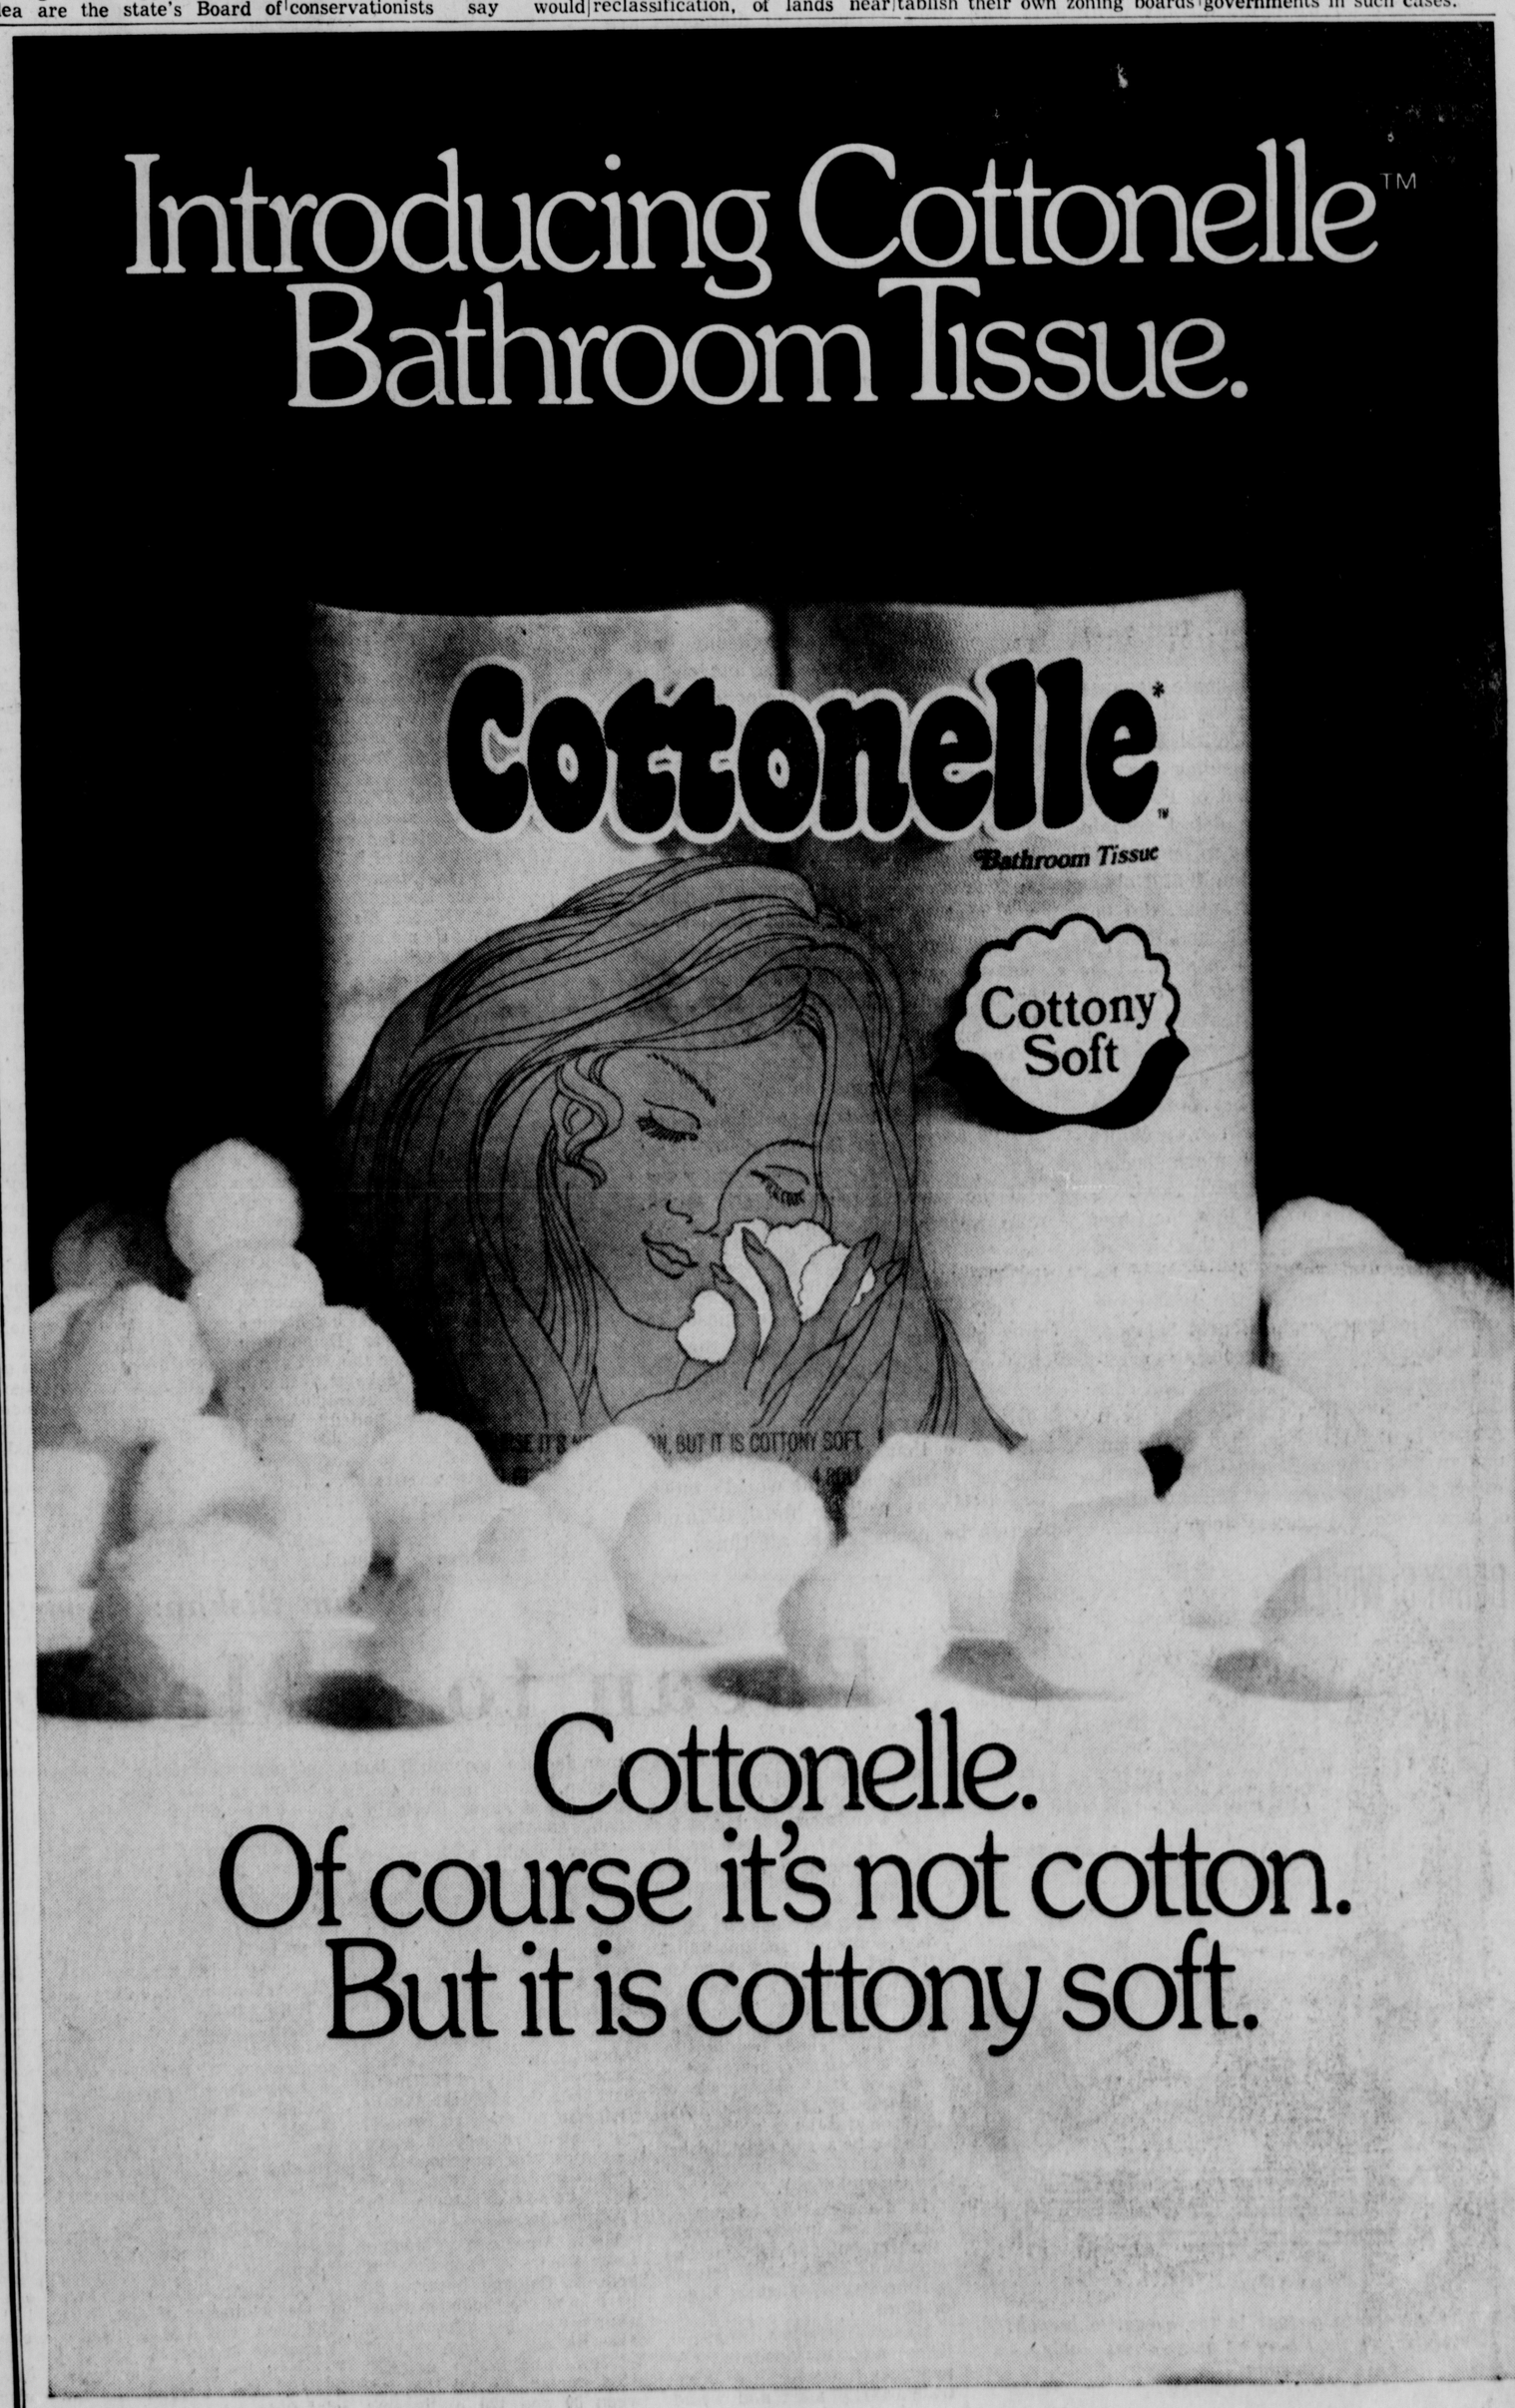

The revised version reportedly also weakens the state agency's power to require local governments to set up zoning boards of their own.

When the agency was created in 1971, only 19 of the 89 towns in the Adirondacks had their own zoning, and one key goal of the agency has been to encourage ore towns to set up zoning.

The preliminary version of the master plan would have required local governments to establish their own zoning boards and ordinances by 1976. Those which did not do so or whose ordinances did not meet agency approval would have seen the agency assume full zoning powers in their towns.

The revised version reportedly drops the provision under which the agency can take over zoning in towns which do not set up their own zoning boards. That would mean that uncontrolled development could occur in those areas placed under the least restrictive classifications, in cases in which the local government refused to set up a zoning board.

The plan also reportedly takes away what was to have been the agency's blanket power to overrule local zoning boards' decisions on projects adjudged to be of intermediate environmental importance. Under the revised version, the agency would have to get a court order to overrule local governments in such cases.

Russian Windfall

One of the chief beneficiaries of the dollar devaluation is a nation with whom we have been seeking to strengthen ties but not one that we necessarily would want to strengthen economically—Soviet Russia.

In one sweep, the Communist country has picked up something like a $100-million windfall.

Approximately $1 billion worth of Russian orders, mostly for American wheat but some also including machinery, remains to be filled in this country. So when the Soviets write a check for the commodities as they are delivered, they will be saving themselves a neat 10 per cent.

That's not a bad discount, but there's no likelihood that the United States will try to renogotiate the deals. In fact the possibility exists that the discount will serve the same purpose that discounts do when offered by retail establishments—stimulate enough trade where the increased volume will more than compensate for the decreased profit margin.

At least that's the hope expressed by American trading representatives who feel that with American goods now priced much more competitively abroad they will be in much greater demand.

Incidentally one of the factors that limited Soviet grain purchases in the West in previous years was the reported shortage of hard currency. But a recent survey has revealed that this is not necessarily so and that Moscow is earning much more of the vital foreign exchange than is generally known through the sale in Western markets of diamonds and precious metals.

The biggest single item sold was gold, through the free market in London, while commercial diamonds are the second largest entry in the secretive accounts. Even oil and gas sales about which there is less secrecy have produced a favorable Soviet trade balance with Western Europe for the first time in many years.

So it appears that we don't have to shed any tears for the financial plight of the Communist giant. But the benefits it has attained as a result of the dollar devaluation are an ironic twist. Moscow has achieved the reputation of being a tough bargainer and indeed seems to have gotten the better of its Western rivals in most past deals. But here, without even lifting a finger, it has found itself enriched to the tune of $100 million. That's a pretty good day's pay.

Protection or Publicity

Publicity or protection? That seems to be the question.

And it is most unfortunate because the person involved is none other than the President of the United States.

Circumstances surrounding the sudden removal of the head of President Nixon's Secret Service detail remain clouded but there seems to be general agreement in Washington that Robert H. Taylor, the veteran agent, did not voluntary leave his post, and that his exit was hastened by a clash with H. R. Haldeman, the White House chief of staff and probably the man closest to the President.

Personality differences can be expected to crop up in the best of families but in this instance the rift in the White House family assumes a more serious aspect. It seems to boil down to whether it is more important that the Chief Executive be exposed to the view of more potential voters or whether he should remain behind the protective cloak provided by the Secret Service.

The incident that triggered the argument between Mr. Haldeman and Mr. Taylor reportedly occurred at Green Airport when the President made an unexpected trip to Rhode Island in an effort to help the senatorial campaign of former Navy Secretary John Chafee.

But it could have happened anywhere.

The point is—there are lots of nuts in this world. For many decades Presidents and other political leaders have been favorite targets of assassins. The bitterness and thus the potential danger have increased markedly in recent years.

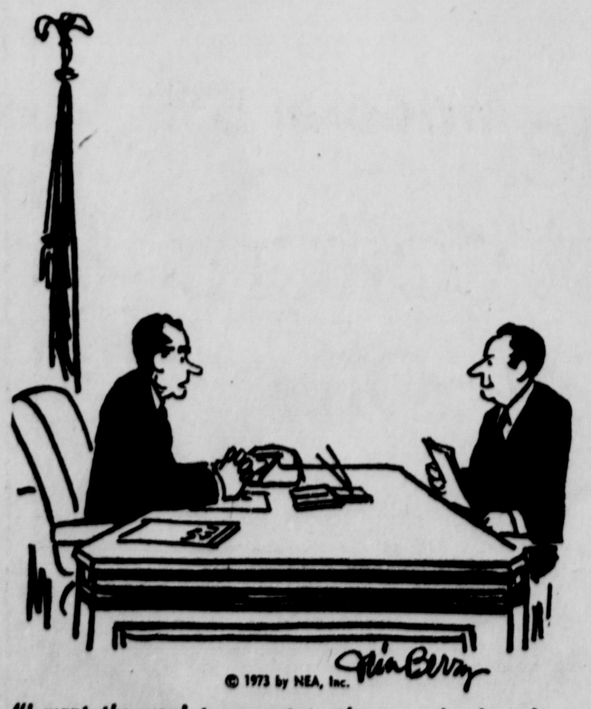

It would be nice to think of a nation so free of rancor and so filled with good will that its leader could roam freely among the people, shaking hands and waving and smiling without fear of bodily harm. But that idealistic day is long gone, if ever it was here.

The tragedy of the Kennedys and the murderous assaults on others prominent in the American social structure still are fresh in the minds of most of us.

If the story is true that Mr. Haldeman negated the security measures imposed by the Secret Service during the President's visit to Rhode Island, so that Mr. Nixon could get closer to more persons at the airport, then it only can reflect a potentially dangerous short-sightedness.

Discouraging though it may be, it is imperative that the man who holds what has been termed the world's most responsible as well as most difficult position be protected at all times.

IRS Hunts 'Little People' Most

By JACK ANDERSON.

WASHINGTON — Senator Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., is investigating complaints from taxpayers who claim they have been hounded, bullied and browbeaten by tax collectors whose methods would put a loan shark to shame.

Many a widow's last mite has been snatched from her by an overeager Internal Revenue Service. Men have been stripped of their livelihood and, along with it, their only means of paying the government.

Montoya will present testimony that agents are trained to presume the taxpayer has cheated; that they are encouraged to claim the taxpayer owes too much rather than too little; that two out of every three dollars in IRS auditors' claims turn out to be baseless; that a taxpayer's appeal varies according to where he lives and how much money is involved; that wealthy taxpayers don't appear to receive as close scrutiny as do poorer taxpayers; and that people of prominence or political pull are given special treatment.

There will also be testimony that the IRS sets a "quota target or plan" for squeezing money out of taxpayers wno are selected for audit. Last year's figures, it will be alleged, called for auditors to bring in $68 to $71 for each audited individual making $10,000 or less, $926 for individuals in the $10,000 to $30.000 income bracket and $1,000 for small businesses in the $100,000 to $250,000 range.

Tax agents will be quoted as boasting they can find "errors in 99.9 per cent of all tax returns if we want to."

Nixon-Wallace Rupture?

The peace between President Nixon and Alabama's Governor George Wallace may be coming to an end.

The stricken governor reportedly is angered over some of the Nixon cutbacks, particularly the hold-up of a Law Enforcement Assistance grant to the University of Albana.

Nixon and Wallace reached an accommodation, apparently, on a presidential flight from Mobile to Birmingham in May 1971. No one knows what the two men said to one another on the flight. But shortly thereafter, a criminal tax investigation of Wallace's brother, Gerald, was dropped.

The governor, in return, announced he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination rather than run as an independent, thus assuring the President that conservative votes wouldn't be drained away from him by a Wallace candidacy.

Gerald Wallace now heads a shadow group, which claims to speak for the governor wno increasingly remains holed up in his mansion nursing his pain and paralysis. The Gerald Wallace group, say our sources in Montgomery, dispenses state contracts, leases and other favors. This was precisely what got him into trouble with Internal Revenue before the charges against him were drooped.

Despite his militant conservatism, Governor Wallace is basically a populist who believes in projects for the poor. Apparently, he has also developed a scientific side to his tough law-and-order philosophy. He is eager to get federal funding for criminal justice centers, which would attempt to find a way of identifying the criminal mind and treating it. The Nixon cutbacks, therefore, have upset him.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Faithful Secretary — President Nixon's new defense secretary, Elliot Richardson, has issued a directive to his staff explaining precisely how he wants correspondence prepared for his signature. Mindful that the President appreciates loyalty above all other qualities, Richardson instructed: "Use the complimentary close "Sincerely' on all letters except on those addressed to the President. In the latter case, use 'Faithfully yours.'"

Tel Aviv Plot — We reported on January 12 that Black September terrorists were plotting to hijack an airliner and crash it into downtown Tel Aviv. Our story was based on information that intelligence agencies had picked up on the secret radio bands used by the Arab terrorists. Representative John Murphy, D-N.Y., wrote to President Nixon about the plot and his office alerted the Israeli Embassy. This may explain why Israel was so sensititve over the appearance of an airliner over Israeli territory and why Israeli pilots shot the airliner down when it refused to heed orders to land.

Blatchford's Travels — Government auditors have reported, following an investigation of Action Director Joseph Blatchford's travels during a 17-month period, that he made "extensive use of chartered aircraft" and that the government paid his wife's travel costs on eight trips. The unpublished report, dated January 12, has been delivered to a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. On at least two occasions, Blatchford stuck the government for an extra $700 for chartered planes just to save himself a few hours. But the auditors found the use of chartered planes in seven other instances "was justified. They also reported that Mrs. Blatchford had participated in Action's programs on her eight trips.

Meany Manipulates

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MIAMI BEACH — Despite AFL-CIO president George Meany's pious declarations of a new political neutrality heavily scented with Nixonism, his romance with Richard M. Nixon is strictly a marriage of convenience, not a flirtation of love.

"Just watch George," confided an intimate shortly after Mr. Nixon became the first President ever to grace a midwinter AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting here. "He'll milk this for everything he can get out of it."

While Meany was basking in the klieglights surrounding Mr. Nixon, his top political lieutenants were quietly putting finishing touches on their design to place eight representatives of organized labor among the 25 new members of the Democratic National Committee to be named shortly by party chairman Robert Strauss.

More important, while Meany was protesting his neutrality as between the Democratic and Republican parties, Strauss was captivating hard-core Meanyites, led by labor's top political operative, Al Barkan. It was Barkan, aided by Meany himself, who played such a major role in getting Strauss elevated to Democratic chairman after the McGovern presidential debacle. Meany, for just one example, personally persuaded Bronx Demorcratic leader Pat Cunningham to back Strauss for party chairman.

The distinction between Mr. Nixon's dramatic courtship of Meany and the AFL-CIO Executive Council and Strauss's own courtship one day later was vivid. Meany formally introduced Mr. Nixon to the Council, listened silently while the President spoke, then escorted him back to his limousine.

But the meeting with Strauss was, in the words of a Meany lieutenant, "like a warm family gathering" — a cocktail party which Strauss, invited six weeks ago to come to the labor parley here, tossed for Meany, the Council and a hundred other AFL CIO satraps.

Publicly, Meany clings teanaciously to the line that he has no more connection with the Democratic party than with the Republican party. Privately, he told top aides that his ardent suitors from both parties just proved the wisdom of the 1972 presidential campaign neutrality he imposed on the AFL-CIO after McGovern's nomination. "It proved," he said, "that no politicians have us in their pocket.

Yet, with Meany's obvious encouragement, Barkan and the AFL-CIO's political apparatus — perhaps the best organization of its size in the country — is rapidly enlarging its influence within the Democratic party. The objective is clear; to gain a strong foothold and avoid being caught off guard by some future George McGovern who lost not only the endorsement of the AFL-CIO high command but also more than half the votes of rank-and-file union members in last November's election.

Some of the President's political aides genuinely believe that Meany's neutrality last year, plus Mr. Nixon's endorsement by the huge Teamsters Union and by half a dozen lesser union presidents, marked a major turning point. Not soon if ever again, they have advised Mr. Nixon, will a Democratic presidential ticket have anything like monolithic backing of organized labor.

It was precisely to advance that hopeful Republican propsect that Mr. Nixon named Peter Brennan, an old-line New York labor leader, Secretary of Labor and gave him unusual authority at the Labor Department.

Likewise, Mr. Nixon is massaging Meany's vanity in other spots. He sent his Secretaries of both Treasury and State, George Shultz and William P. Rogers, to start bargaining with Meany on new trade legislation at a dinner here which the labor leaders thought was supposed to be top-secret. When the White House announced it with great fanfare, its purpose quickly became clear: to tell the world how much Mr. Nixon really thinks of George Meany.

In fact, however, even though labor has moved to the right and genuinely respects Mr. Nixon's strong hand in Vietnam, its heart is solidly lodged with the new, non-McGovern Democrats. Meany will keep the door open to the White House and he will permit himself to be flattered, because it is highly convenient. He will strike the best bargain he can on wage controls, protection against imports and other legislative matters, but he knows better than anyone else that most marriages of convenience are strictly temporary.

Paean to a Medical Pioneer

Manny has been gone a long time. The wind-blown rusty flowers have fled his grave and I am alone staring at the wire frames. He was Dr. E. M. Abrahamson, M.D. of New York, a pilloried pioneer in medicine.

Abrahamson was a short, dark, intense sentimentalist. He was, I would surmise, much more of a science-chemist than physician. When he was very young, he read a medical paper written by Dr. Seale Harris, professor of medicine at the University of Alabama. Dr. Harris said that if there was such a thing as diabetes (hypoinsulinism) there must be an opposite (hyperinsulinism).

In diabetes, the Islands of Langerhans, in the pancreas, stop manufacturing insulin. They quit. The body refuses to metabolize sugar. Ergo: diabetes.

Manny reasoned that if there was an opposite, the pancreas would be extraordinarily alert and would manufacture too much body insulin, which in turn would drop blood sugar levels to a dangerous low.

How would such patients act? They would have rapid heartbeat; they would be exhausted before meals; they would be alcoholics seeking sugar conversion; they would suffer agonizing allergies; some would sustain periods of depression.

No one believed Dr. Abrahamson's hypothesis except Dr. Richard Hoffmann, psychiatrist of Park Avenue. Hoffman believed so completely that he refused to accept neurotics and psychotics for treatment until Abrahamson had tested them for hyperinsulinism.

The American Medical Association, pontificating from its Chicago tower, said there was no such disease. Manny was, by inference, a fake. He kept testing patients before breakfast. Normal blood sugar should lie between 80 and 120 milligrams of sugar per 100 cc. of blood. Some of his sick people checked in with 52 milligrams.

Manny was a fighter. When I knew him, he had a duplex office on Sutton Place. He had a waiting room full of tall green plants and well-lighted fish tanks. A small circular stairway led to his apartment. We sat at night eating and shooting bull.

Many fought the A.M.A. With the help of a writer-patient, A. W. Pezet, he wrote a book about hyperinsulinism called "Body, Mind and Sugar." In it, he proved his case and stated that, according to his findings, about 10 per cent of all Americans have hyperinsulinism.

He found a way of combatting it, re-educating the Islands of Langerhans to use blood sugar with discretion. It was a matter of diet. Now and then, the A.M.A. fired a broadside at him.

Abrahamson no longer cared. He worked in an elaborate laboratory and one day he found that he too had a sickness: loneliness. He married a starchy nurse who had a child. He was so dizzied with happiness that he adopted the little girl.

One day his wife was missing. She left no note. While Manny was working over Bunsen burners and retorts, she had met a gallant romantic. Dr. Abrahamson was broken-hearted. In court, he learned that he was responsible for the child until she reached her majority.

The doctor became embittered. He worked later and later. He saw more and more patients. At our evening gabfests, he looked haggard, vacant. I was glad when he met an older woman. He was at the crest of his work. Physicians around the country had read his book, and tested patients with baffling illnesses. It came up hyperinsulinism.

The woman was matronly. Manny married her. After work, he raced me up the circular staircase, two steps at a time. The radiation of his joy warmed my cheeks.

Then he introduced me to her daughter, a shy, beautiful child. I hesitated to ask the question. Abrahamson read it in my eyes. "I adopted her," he said. "I want her and her mother to belong to me forever."

There is a gulf between the scientist and the sentimentalist — even though they are the same man. I felt as though the lights in the apartment had dimmed.

In time, she left. Dr. Abrahamson did not go to court. He killed himself. A great man had departed, and a paragraph appeared in the New York Times.

Later, his book sold in the millions. His name became famous. In time, the iron-clad mentality of the medical association bent. It was conceded that there is an opposite to diabetes — hyperinsulinism.

Who remembers? I do. Who grieves for greatness? I do. Who weeps? Not me . . .

Q: Why did Diahann Carroll break off her plan to marry David Frost? — P.E. Oswego, N.Y.

A: We don't think she did. Though some skeptics had said all along that the wedding would never take place, Diahann had ordered her wedding dress and trousseau from Arnold Scaasi and was ready for the big day. The problems in this relationship are twofold: David's long, unyielding bachelorhood and Diahann's domineering manner. She likes her own way (this is why the romance with Sidney Poitier broke up) and David likes his own way and that means it's hard for the two to tango.

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD: Juan Peron, former dictator of Argentina, will try to shake the weight of his 77 years now that his attempt to regain power after 17 years in exile has failed. Peron has gone with his 41-year-old wife to Rumania for treatment at the clinic of Dr. Ana Aslan, a rejuvenation expert.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who is the latest "name" to ban the banns? Why none other than French singer Francoise Hardy, known for years as the sweet voice of innocence. Francoise announces at age 29 that she will nave the baby of singer Jacques Dutronc, but that they won't marry. Her business manager tried to delay the announcement from his saint-like client for as long as possible, but at this point further delay is pointless. Francoise says, "Marriage is not for me the essential thing." She admits that her mother's refusal to marry produced profound disturbances in her own life. However, the singer is more worried about her all-ebony apartment in a 17th century Paris building. Francoise is consulting specialists to see if the baby might be affected by such a stygian atmosphere.

GENTLEMAN HENRY: Dr. Kissinger has those courtly European manners so prized by the fair sex. When the good doctor was discussing the recent contretemps between Washington columnist Maxine Cheshire and Frank Sinatra, Henry went to some pains not to repeat the four-letter words used by Sinatra. Henry told the story to his lady friends with appropriate blanks.

QUICKIES: Watch for Mick Jagger's 24-year-old brother, Chris Jagger, to hit the limelight. Rod Stewart and Elton John are big fans of Chris, who is going to try to make it outside the shadow of his big brother . . . And watch for underground king Andy Warhol's next film to be a musical starring none other than Mrs. Mick (Bianca) Jagger . . . Clifford Irving says the most widely read newspaper behind bars is The Wall Street Journal. Says Cliff, "A lot of these guys are big investors."

LAST LAUGH DEPARTMENT: Tennessee Williams is reminding friends that in 1969 Life magazine claimed he was through as a writer. Says Williams, "I'm happy to see life has folded, and I'm still going as strong as ever."

Carroll: An "I" for an "I."

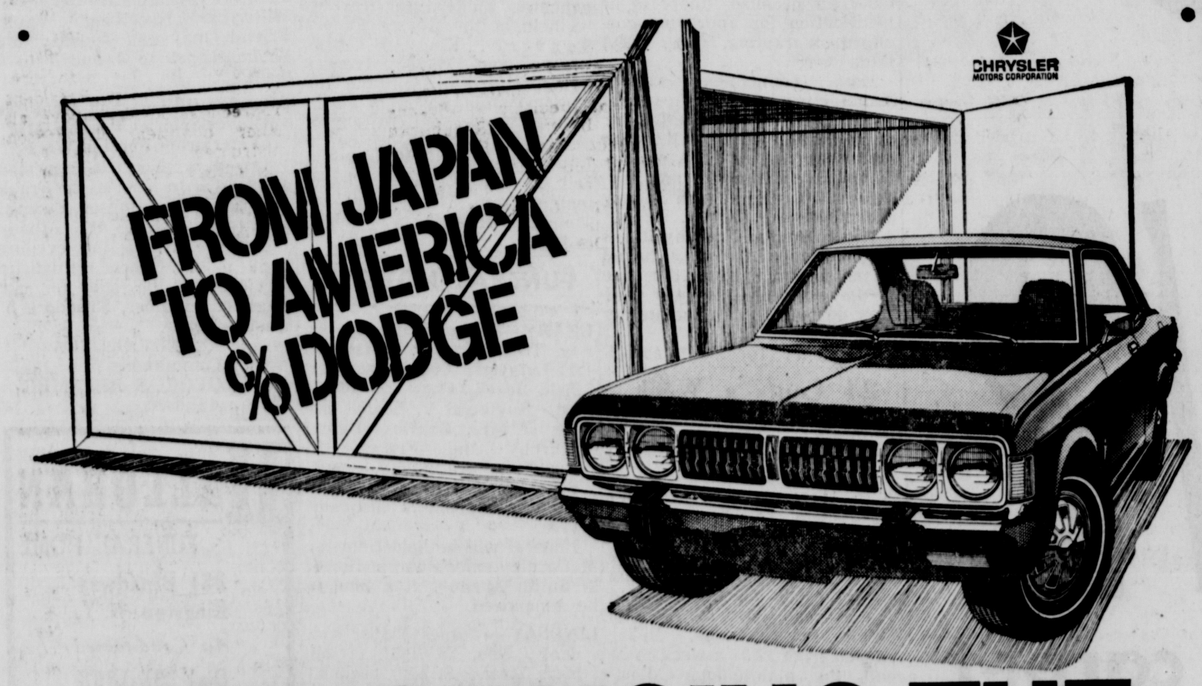

Perons: A perfect 36 for geriatrics.

Hardy: Resting on her laurels.

ANNOUNCING THE '73 DODGE COLT

'Til now, little Japanese imports have had to depend on their own dealerships in the U.S. for parts and service. Now comes Dodge Colt, imported from Japan, but sold, serviced, and backed by Dodge, coast to coast.

Many imports that come to America come with one very real problem: how to provide parts and service on a nationwide basis.

Put another way, once the car gets here, who's going to take care of it?

'Til now, Japanese imports have pretty much had to rely on the dealerships they themselves set up in the U.S.

But now comes an import with a different way of doing things. An import that comes from Japan...to America... c/o Dodge.

The Colt is sold and serviced and backed to the hilt by a network of Dodge Colt Dealers that stretches from one side of the U.S. to the other.

Which means that though the Colt may be built over 5,000 miles away, it'll be cared for by a man who's right around the corner.

And speaking of being built, wait'll you see what Colt comes with as standard equipment...

- Front disc brakes
- Reclining bucket seats (except on coupe)
- Overhead cam hemi engine
- Four-speed transmission (we think it's the best in the industry)
- Hidden radio antenna
- Easy-to-care-for vinyl upholstery
- Plus a lot of other things you'd expect on a little car.

Colt . . . from Japan to America . . . c/o Dodge.

Author Claims Costello Agreed About Book

NEW YORK (UPI) — An author specializing in crime books said Tuesday that the late Frank Costello, "prime minister of the underworld," had agreed to cooperate on a book about his life.

However, Costello died 10 days after the agreement, said Peter Maas, who wrote "The Valachi Papers," a book dealing with the Mafia.

Costello was considered the leader of Mafia crime until his retirement in the 1950s. He died this month.

Maas said he contacted Costello through intermediaries and the mobster finally came to his apartment to discuss the book.

During months of informal conversations, Maas said he told Costello that, "I thought he was the most important Mafia figure of this century. He transcended the Mafia. He just moved in every area — business, labor, politics.

"I thought he was part of American history. He just towered over the others. There's no comparable figure to him."

Maas said he told Costello the book would be about him, not so much the Mafia.

Costello agreed to cooperate, Maas said, but then was admitted to a hospital with what was thought to be a mild heart attack. He died a few days later.

Man Acquitted

Stephen John Miller of 4 Joy's Lane, Hurley, was acquitted Feb. 15 after a jury trial in the Federal Court, Southern District of New York, of a charge of selling a stolen firearm. Miller was arrested in September, 1972, by agents of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms and accused of selling a recently stolen firearm in May, 1972.

City Police Seek Two For Murders

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of three men who escaped after robbing a Harlem grocery Tuesday night were said by police to be wanted for questioning in the murders of at least two New York policemen.

Police said witnesses to the robbery looked at mug shots and all pointed out the two men, Twyman Myers, 23, and Melvin Kearney, 22, both previously identified as members of the Black Liberation Army.

The holdupmen entered the store, brandished a sawed off shotgun and a pistol and ordered about 10 customers and three employes to lie on the floor while one gunman took $80 from the cash register, police said.

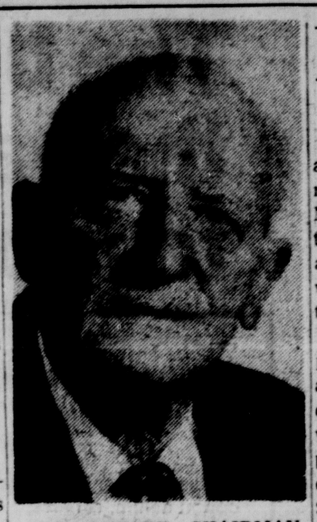

Myers and Kearney have been sought for questioning about the ambush murders of Patrolmen Rocco Laurie and Gregory Foster Jan. 27, 1972 in the East Village.

Myers was also said to be wanted in Atlanta for questioning about attacks on policemen there.

Kearney was identified as a convicted bank robber.

Paltz Town Police Arrest 6 on Drugs

NEW PALTZ — Five men and a woman were arrested on felony and misdemeanor drug charges by New Paltz Town Police early today when a quantity of alleged heroin and marijuana was found in the car in which they were riding.

Town Police said approximately 4½ ounces of alleged heroin and a small quanitty of alleged marijuana was found in the vehicle. State police set a value on that quantity of heroin at more than $3,000.

Arrested on charges of criminal possession of dangerous drugs in the third degree and in the sixth degree were Janet R. Greenough, 21, of Pancake Hollow Road, Highland; Raymond Gordon, 29, and Warren Gordon, 20 both of the Bronx; Louis A. LaSalle, 24, who gave his address as Puerto Rico; James P. Monte, 28, of Tuckers Corner Road, Clintondale; and Paul Nicholas 32, of Huntington Station, Long Island. Nicholas, the operator of the vehicle, was also charged with six vehicle and traffic violations.

Police said the car in which the six were riding was stopped on Route 299 for alleged speeding. As police approached the car they took note of some alleged marijuana cigarettes on the floor of the vehicle. A subsequent search revealed the alleged heroin hidden under the dashboard, police said.

Arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, all six pleaded innocent. The woman was released in her own custody for a reappearance on Friday. The men were all confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail each for a reappearance on the same date.

Police Undercover Agents Bust Planning Session

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Police said Tuesday two undercover officers sat in on strategy meetings for six months with a band of robbers planning to hold up the elegant Doral Beach Hotel in a quasi-military operation worthy of a movie thriller.

On Monday night, police moved in and arrested five suspects just as the "final planning session" was breaking up 48 hours before the alleged holdup was to take place.

The suspects were identified as Isaac Washington, 42, of Miami; Zernard Scaldeferri, 37, of Hollywood, Fla.; Phillip J. Pompeo, 49, of Miami Beach; Peter J. Rinaldi, 42, of Marysvile, N.Y.; and Pasquale L. Sole, 33, of Philadelphia.

Two other men, arrested earlier this month in a jewelry store robbery, also will be charged with conspiracy to rob the Doral Beach, police said. They are Richard Duncan Pearson, 42, and Robert Paul Shelly, 33. No addresses were given for them.

Sgt. George R. Havens, supervisor of the Organized Crime Bureau of the Dade County (Miami) sheriff's office, said his unit was tipped more than six months ago that a group of men planned to seize the hotel lobby, using automatic pistols with silencers and empty the safety deposit boxes.

A similar operation in 1966 netted $2.5 million from the Harbor Island Spa, located on a causeway between Miami Beach and Miami. Two men later received long prison terms for that crime.

Learning that the conspirators planned to bribe security guards to provide key information on hotel security, Havens said he had two undercover agents join the hotel's 20-man security staff.

"The conspirators came to us," Havens said. "They thought they were corrupting two hotel security officers, but these were actually our men."

Havens said the hotel security staff cooperated fully with the investigation.

Food, Drug Administration Recalling Sugar Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year after the problem was brought to its attention, the Food and Drug Administration is recalling thousands of bottles of a sugar solution linked to several patient deaths and injuries.

Medical experts say the 7-per-cent dextrose solution, when improperly administered in peritoneal dialysis, can lead to rapid dehydration, shock, coma, convulsions and death.

Peritoneal dialysis involves discharging the sugar solution into a patients' abdominal cavity and then draining it, to remove wastes when his kidneys fail to do the job.

The recall, limited largely to hospitals, involves existing stocks of the 7-per-cent solution manufactured by Abbott, Travenol, McGaw and Cutter laboratories.

The FDA said it believes about 11,000 bottles remain in national and international markets, plus another 17,600 frozen at Cutter outlets in the United States, Canada and the Dominican Republic.

The recall amounts to a virtual ban because "there is no justification for approving continued marketing," the FDA said.

Most companies stopped manufacturing the 7-per-cent solution, the agency said, after an informal meeting in Chicago early last year of FDA and industry representatives and physicians concerned with kidney and peritoneal dialysis.

The FDA said Tuesday it has no knowledge of deaths linked to the solution and at the time of the meeting last year had "felt no need for immediate action."

Dr. Henry Tenckhoff, associate professor at the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle, said there have been "a number of reports of deaths clearly related to inappropriate administration of these solutions."

24 Cents a Week

LONDON (UPI) — A Domestic Court judge ruled Tuesday that Terence Brady owes his wife 24 cents a week.

"In these days of women's lib," said court president George Baker, "there is no reason why a wife whose marriage has not lasted long and who has no child should have a bread ticket for life."

With those words, Baker reduced from $7.35 a week to 24 cents the maintenance allowance Terence Brady must pay his wife. Mrs. Brady had asked the court to increase the payment.

"My husband can keep it," said Mrs. Brady, a 21-year-old typist. "Perhaps he might like to buy himself a half pint of beer with it. He can bank the change."

And she added she had no interest in women's lib.

Long Distance

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — In the northwest Arkansas town of Lowell someone calling from City Hall to the fire station next door has to pay a long distance toll, state Senator Jim Caldwell said Tuesday.

Caldwell said that Southwestern Bell provides telephone service in the community of 277 persons but he said part of Lowell's residents are included in an exchange with Springdale, six miles to the south, while the rest of the town is in an exchange with Rogers, about six miles to the north.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued lower today, extending the slide of recent sessions.

Advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange trailed declining ones by a fair margin, while the Dow Jones industrial average opened fractionally lower.

Active at the opening was CMI Investment, off 1¼ to 46 following a 10¾ point plunge Tuesday. A brokerage firm has recommended sale of private mortgage-insurance stocks by short-term aggressive traders.

Delta Air Lines was down 1⅜ to 57⅝; Gulf Oil was off ⅛ to 25½; and Control Data was down 1⅛ to 44¾.

Stock market prices dropped Tuesday for their fifth straight session amid continuing concern over inflation, rising interest rates and pressure on the dollar abroad.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 5.87 to 947.92, bringing the decline since last Tuesday to some 35 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was a moderately active 16.14 million shares.

Three Persons Injured In Automobile Mishap

TILLSON — Three persons were injured shortly before midnight Tuesday in a two-car collision on Route 32 about a mile south of the Route 213 intersection.

Hurley State Police said that Dr. Harri H. Janssen, 47, of 116 Fair Street, Kingston, was northbound at 11:40 p.m. when a southbound car operated by William Smith, 29, of PO Box 4, West Hurley, allegedly crossed over into the northbound lane and was in headon collision with Janssen's car.

Mrs. Gertrude Felsen, 50, of Route 3, Box 249, Kingston, a passenger in the Janssen car, was taken to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance Service of Rosendale and admitted to the Intensive Care Unit. She was reported in serious condition today with fractures of the ribs and clavicle.

Also taken to Kingston Hospital were the two drivers. Smith was admitted with a fractured left arm and lacerations of the face. Dr. Janssen was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Trooper Norman Guilfoyle of the Hurley station issued Smith a summons for reckless driving.

Meanwhile, two persons were injured in the three-car crash on Broadway in Kingston Tuesday afternoon.

Kingston police reported that Ernest G. Perry, 21, of Old King's Highway, Lake Katrine, was coming onto Broadway from the exit to the old City Hall when his car was in collision with a vehicle operated by Josephine Wildner, 75, of 105 Main Street, Kingston. The Wildner car then was allegedly pushed into collision with a third car operated by Ira M. Fusfeld, 24, of Apartment 10A, Sunset Gardens, Kingston.

Mrs. Wildner suffered a contusion when her head struck the steering wheel. Perry suffered minor injuries and said he would see his own doctor. No summons was issued.

Fire Ravages 5 Buildings In Fredonia

FREDONIA, N.Y. (AP) — Fire raged through five business buildings in this Western New York village early today, causing damage estimated at about $500,000.

A woman occupant of an upper-floor apartment was rescued uninjured by firemen, and two firemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

Firemen from a half dozen neighboring communities joined in battling the flames.

Fire officials said the fire started in a one-story building housing the Village Squire restaurant. The cause was not determined.

The flames spread to another one-story building and to three three-story structures.

Some of the businesses destroyed were a clothing store, a novelty shop and a mazgazine store. Headquarters of a Masonic lodge on a third-floor of one building also was destroyed.

The damage estimate was given by insurance company representatives.

Hospital Employes Penalized

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) Forty-four employes of the Metteawan State Hospital who staged a Dec. 30 walkout to protest what they regarded as poor security conditions have been penalized two days' pay.

The penalties imposed on the employes Tuesday were those prescribed by the Taylor Law, which forbids strikes by public employes.

In addition to the loss of two days' pay for each day of a strike, the law requires a one-year suspension of tenure for the employes involved.

The protesting guards and other employes said they staged the walkout to protest understaffing and inadequate security at the Beacon institution, which is used for the treatment of those judged to be criminally insane.

The dispute is still being discussed, the Department of Correctional Services said.

Too Much Abuse

BENFLEET, England (UPI) — Hundreds of commuters were waiting for the train Tuesday when a voice boomed over the station loudspeaker. The engineer, the announcement said, would not stop at Benfleet —"because the driver received so much abuse yesterday morning."

Benfleet is on one of the rail lines disrupted by a union slowdown.

When the train pulled in Monday after a long delay, commuters jeered and some shook their fists at the driver.

WALKER VALLEY — A widow and four children were left homeless by a fire that destroyed their frame dwelling near Walker Valley shortly before noon Tuesday.

Walker Valley firemen under Chief J. Gregston Greer responded to an alarm at 11:30 a.m. after a passerby noticed smoke coming from the home of Mrs. Frances Dibble on Woods Road, about a mile east of Walker Valley.

Greer and 25 Walker Valley volunteers manning a pumper and tanker were joined at the scene by a pumper and tanker from Pine Bush under Chief Reuben Gillespie summoned from Orange County under the inter-county mutual aid plan, and Cragsmoor firemen did stand by duty at the Walker Valley firehouse.

Firemen found the house fully involved in flames when they arrived. The exterior walls were saved but the interior was gutted, Greer reported.

Cause of the fire is undetermined but it was believed to have started in the basement and burned up through first floor partitions. The fire had made great headway before firemen arrived because there was nobody home when it began, Greer said.

Meanwhile, Red Hook firemen were called at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday to the trailer of the Buckly LaPiere family at 115 South Broadway and found the traler fully involved in flames.

Firemen laid over 2,400 feet of hose and concentrated their efforts on saving trailers on either side of the burning vehicle. Chief William Schloemer said that the couple and their four children escaped without injury.

The fire is believed to have started in the trailer's heating unit, Schloemer said. Firemen were at the scene until 3:22 a.m.

Youth Is Arrested

LAKE KATRINE — Corey Shea Halwick, 16, of Leggs Mills Road, Lake Katrine was arrested Tuesday by Sheriff's deputies on a charge of burglary in the third degree in connection with an alleged theft at the Lake Katrine apartments on January 5.

Deputies said the youth allegedly stole a tool box and tools vauled at $200 from a locked room behind a laundry room at the apartments on that date. The arrest was made by Deputy Arthur Nersesian of Sheriff's Department Crime Squad.

Arraigned before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood E. Davis, the youth was released in the custory of his parents for a reappearance at a later date.

Hurley Report Slated Thursday

UCCC Offering Landscape Course

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College this spring is offering six credit-free courses in the area of landscape work and ecology.

They include Minimum Maintenance Gardening, Building a Landscape, Golf Course Green Construction, Land Mangement and Erosion Control, Environmental Health and A Home in the Country.

Minimum Maintenance Gardening, to meet on four Thursday nights starting May 3, is designed for homeowners whose gardens are taking up time which they would rather spend on other pursuits.

Building a Landscape, to meet on eight Saturday mornings starting March 31, is designed to familiarize the homeowner with the appropriate techniques, materials and planning for the construction of a landscape.

Golf Course Green Construction, to meet on three Saturday afternoons starting May 5, will demonstrate the proper technique for building golf course green and tee areas.

Land Management and Erosion Control, to meet on Tuesday, March 13, and two Saturdays, March 17 and 24, is designed to illustrate methods of maintaining and using land which might normally be considered unproductive or non-usable.

All four courses will be taught by David F. Smith, coordinator of the Landscape Development and Maintenance program at the College.

Environmental Health, to meet on 10 Wednesday nights starting March 14, will deal with building codes, water sanitation, diseases of man and air pollution monitoring. The instructors include Fred C. Wadnola and John A. Powers, public health engineers, and Harold Pinckney.

A Home in the Country, to meet on 10 Thursday nights starting March 8, is designed to provide information to rural homeowners on the best and most appropriate use of their land resources. The coordinator will be Harold J. Hogan, of the Ulster County Cooperative Extension Association.

Further information about these courses can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Office at the College.

Nixon's Manpower Revamping Being Criticized by Dems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon hopes to achieve by executive fiat the revamping of federal manpower training programs that he failed to win through legislation. Democrats contend the result would be a drastic lessening of job training and placment efforts.

Nixon said in his 1974 budget message that he will implement by administrative orders his Manpower Revenue Sharing plan which the House rejected in a formal vote in March, 1971, and which the Senate never even considered.

The Nixon revenue sharing plan, which aims to transfer control of programs from Washington to state and local officials, would allot $1.34 billion in the 1974 fiscal year that starts July 1 to states and cities to operate the two major manpower programs now administered by the Labor Department.

The two programs are the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962 (MDTA) and the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 (EOA). Congressional authorization for continuing MDTA will expire June 30, and Nixon said he would ask that the program be extended as the vehicle for revenue sharing. The EOA authorization will not expire until June 30, 1974.

Nixon said two other manpower programs—JOBS (Job Opportunities in the Business Sector) and WIN (Work Incentive)—will be exempt from his revenue sharing plan and will continue under Labor Department.

Nixon said he will increase WIN's present $395 million budget to $540 million with a goal of putting 165,000 welfare recipients either in a job or in training for a job in 1974.

At the same time, the big $2.25 billion Emergency Employment Act, enacted in 1971, would be phased out by Nixon when its congressional authorization expires this June 30.

The EEA, Nixon said, will have placed 280,400 persons in public service jobs, performing some local or state government work for which the federal government paid 90 per cent of the person's salary. The need for EEA, said Nixon, has passed because "unemployment has fallen and the financial ability of state and local governments to meet demands for services has improved."

The Nixon budget figure of $1.34 billion for revenue sharing is $165 million more than his budget figures for MDTA and EOA in the current 1973 fiscal year. Democrats dispute these figures.

A study by the House Education and Labor Committee staff claims that Nixon actually asked for $1.549 billion for 1973 for the manpower programs, but since has ordered a cutback to the $1.3 billion figure with a resulting lessening of job training and placement efforts.

That cuutback, along with the elimination of the EEA, the study argues, will result in a "reduction of 53 per cent in funds available for job creation and manpower activities" in the 1974 budget.

Major criticism from the AFL-CIO and some congressional Democrats is aimed at Nixon's plan to phase ouut the EEA, which critics claim has been the most effective of all manpower programs in actually putting the unemployed to work.

Rep. Dominick V. Daniels, D-N.J., prime author of the EEA, has introduced a bill to extend the program for two years beyond June 30 with stepped-up funding that would total $4.5 billion over the two years.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., a member of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee which acts on manpower legislation, has introduced a bill to provide $10 billion in one year to create 1 million jobs in the public sector.

Mushroom Scare Hits Pizza Parlor

OSSINEKE, Mich. (UPI) — Mario Fabrini, an Italian immigrant, spent nine years building his reputation as a master pizza maker, only to have it tarnished by the recall of mushrooms suspected of containing botulism.

Fabbrini, 41, was told by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) Feb. 19 that the firm that supplied mushrooms for his pizzas, United Canning Co. of East Palestine, Ohio, had supplied him with some mushrooms suspected of containing botulism.

"All I could think was, 'Oh, my God. Not me. What if somebody gets sick or dies from this,'" said Fabbrini Monday as he talked about the shock of learning his prized pizzas might have been contaminated through no fault of his own.

Fabbrini immediately recalled all his pizzas, and is making preparations to bulldoze 30,000 of the pies into a sanitary landfill.

"There sure are a lotsa nice people in the world," said Fabbrini. "For instance, a man came over here today and said, 'Listen, I don't have no money but I got some stock, and I'll put it up for collateral if you need it.' He also said his congregation is praying for us.

"A bank teller also told me a priest is praying for us. That's really worth something, I'll tell you.

"It sorta makes you goose pimples about America. I tell you, I lived under fascism, nazism and communism. I came here after World War II from Fiume, Italy. It's now part of Yugoslavia. But believe me, I know. We were occupied by the Nazis. They put the black shirt (the Fascist symbol) on me when I was 6 years old. In order to go to school in those days you had to believe in that."

Fabbrini started his wholesale business at home when friends and local innkeepers asked him to make frozen pizzas in has native style. He moved from his home kitchen to what has become one of the most modern pizza factories in the nation, employing 22 persons with a capacity for turning out 45,000 pizzas per week.

"We're not like a big nationwide outfit which just puts on pepperoni and cheese," Fabbrini said proudly. "We got a fine product, with hams and mushrooms and whatever anybody wants."

The negative publicity in the recall hurts. Not only was there an estimated $30,000 loss in the recalled pizzas, but there will be a loss of future business.

There have been no cases of Papa Fabbrini pizzas causing sickness, an FDA spokesman said, though 17 persons have attempted to blame bad pizzas for illnesses.

IBM Announces Key Promotions

KINGSTON — Four key promotions have been announced for International Business Machines Corporation in Kingston.

Richard A. Despres of Woodstock has been promoted to senior programmer at the IBM System Products Division plant, according to an announcement made by Francis H. Delaney, IBM Kingston general manager.

Three other promotions made known by Frank W. Wise, IBM Kingston Laboratory manager included:

William Gianopulos, West Hurley, to senior engineer and will be responsible for the management of the circuit technology function at Kingston.

James D. Russell, Claverack, to senior engineer and will be responsible for performance evaluations of Kingston terminal sub-systems.

Norman Argast Jr., Poughkeepsie, to senior engineer, manager of advanced regulator development at IBM Kingston. In this post, Argast will be responsible for the development of advanced regulator designs for future systems.

Despres, who joined IBM in Kingston in 1956, was promoted to supervisor in field test installation in Seattle, Wash., and served in that capacity in Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz. He rejoined IBM locally in 1964 as a senior associate programmer and in 1967 was promoted to project manager. In 1970, he was named project manager in CMIS installation. Mr. and Mrs. Despres are the parents of four children.

Gianopulos joined IBM in December 1966 as a senior associate engineer in circuit technology where he was promoted to project engineer and to development engineer in 1970. He resides with his wife, Naomi, and their children, Lauren, William, Timothy and Howard.

Russell joined IBM at Kingston in September of 1963 as a staff engineer and was named project engineer in advanced technology in January of 1965. Russell was promoted to development engineer in formation systems analysis in June 1968. Mr. and Mrs. Russell have four children, Daniel, David, Mark and James.

Argast joined IBM at Poughkeepsie in 1963 as a junior engineer and was promoted to associate engineer in circuit technology support.

Allstate Bumper Discounts

NORTHBROOK Ill. — "Bumpers that can take a bump are now available from many auto manufacturers," an Allstate Insurance Company spokesman noted today as he released a current list of 1973 model passenger cars that qualify for Allstate's 15 and 20 per cent discounts on collision insurance.

Allstate's 20 per cent discount, first offered in March, 1970, is available for 1973 American Motors' Hornets and Gremlins equipped with an optional rear recoverable bumper system, according to the spokesman.

This maximum Allstate discount requires that a car withstand a 5 mile-per-hour crash, front and rear, into a standard test barrier without any damage.

1973 models certified for Allstate's 15 per cent discount include all of Chrysler Corporation's passenger cars, American Motors' Matador and Ambassador models, all Lincolns and Continentals and all domestic Mercurys.

Ford's Thunderbird also meets the performance levels for the 15 per cent discount. All other Ford Domestic passenger cars qualify for the 15 per cent discount when equipped with factory-installed front and rear bumper guards or the deluxe bumper group.

Among foreign manufacturers, Volvo has certified all its 1973 passenger cars for the 15 per cent discount and Saab has certified its 97 and 99 models for it.

The 15 per cent discount is offered for cars meeting Allstate's criteria of a test barrier impact at 5 miles per hour front and 2½ miles per hour rear without any damage.

The Allstate spokesman also cited figures that confirmed the importance of good bumpers that can protect for 5 miles-per-hour crashes. He said that a recent study by four companies — Allstate, State Farm, Liberty Mutual and Lumbermans — of more than 89,000 repair estimates indicated that 70 per cent of all automobile crashes involve impacts occuring at either the front or rear of the car.

Allstate's bumper discounts were the first announced by any insurance company. Allstate's three discounts are offered in 48 states.

Allstate Insurance is available locally at the Sears store, Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Hidden Valley Winners

ROSENDALE — Winners in the fourth annual Hidden Valley ice fishing contest were announced today by Mrs. Mickey Duncan, director of the popular 200 acre recreational facility, on Whiteport Road near Rosendale.

First prize was won by Bubbly Albright, 27 Hone Street, Kingston, for his catch of a two lb. 13 ounce pickerel. Second prize was nabbed by Robert D. Johnson, of Stone Ridge, for his two lb. five ounce pickerel, and third prize went to John Lendvay, of High Falls, for his one pound 14 ounce pickerel.

The popular contest this year was marred by a late start due to the unseasonably warm weather and by intermittent freezing and warming, which created and melted the lake ice throughout the contest.

"Now that the contest is over, the lake has accumulated over 12 inches of ice on it," reported Mrs. Duncan. All facilities, including ice fishing, snowmobiling, sledding, skating, camping and the clubhouse are open daily to the public.

AFC Help On Tax Date

KINGSTON — More and more taxpayers, aware of their limited knowledge of significant and legal deductions, are seeking the skilled assistance of such organizations as American Finance Corp., leaders in the field of income tax preparation.

Last year American Finance reported impressive tax refunds received by more than 70 per cent of its customers.

Because of the success and popularity of this special service, American Finance this year will offer income tax assistance in 495 offices in 20 states, including its Kingston office in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

All American Finance offices are open throughout the year to provide continued tax service to their customers at no additional cost.

Ridge Homes Extend Freeze

SAUGERTIES

The Ridge Homes, largest home manufacturer east of the Mississippi, has extended its price freeze on all 1973 models until Feb. 28, according to George Arold of A & R Buildings, Route 9W, Saugerties and John Guercio, president of G and C Corp., Route 9G, Hyde Park.

To be eligible for the price break, Arold and Guercio explained, home buyers must place a refundable $100 deposit by Feb. 28 and agree to accept delivery of the home by June 30.

"Although we have seen some improvement in economic conditions and some curbing of the inflationary spiral," they said, "our company feels that an extension of our price freeze is in the best public interest."

BANKERS TRUST PROMOTION — John H. Barry, president of Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N. A., has announced the promotion of Udo Glosch to the position of assistant cashier on the officers platform at the bank's 301 Wall Street Office. Glosch joined the bank in 1967. He has gained a broad background in bank operations, having worked in the proof, teller and installment loan departments. Previous to his appointment to the uptown office in June of 1972, he managed the bank's midtown office and worked in the capacity of assistant manager of the Kingston Installment Loan office. His present duties include the handling of demand loans, notes, mortagage investigations and credit analysis.

State Lauds Sears On Expansion Lease

NEW YORK

State Commerce Commissioner Neal L. Moylan has commended officials of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for their decision to expand its fashion buying headquarters by signing a 25-year lease for space in a New York City office building.

"The company's plan to move 2,000 employes into the building from other Manhattan locations next year and signing a 25-year, $100 million lease there is proof of this major retailing firm's confidence in New York State," the commissioner said.

The 481,000 square foot space in the 48-story building at 1633 Broadway in New York City nearly doubles the space Sears now has for these operations in the city.

The transferring of several Sears buying departments to New York in recent years from the midwest has been a big economic plus for the Empire State." Commissioner Moylan said, "and this latest decision by Sears to expand here is a solid indication that New York continues to be important in the fashion and retailing industries."

A Sears store in the Kingston N.Y. area is located in the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Vols Urge Funds Remain

KINGSTON — Members of the Ulster County Volunteer Fireman's Association, at their recent monthly meeting, were urged to write their state legislators urging the funds earmarked by Gov. Rockefeller for training of volunteer firemen and the operation of the state Fire Academy remain intact in the 1973 state budget.

The Governor's proposed budget calls for an expenditure of $150,000 for the training of volunteer firemen at the local level, and $277,000 for the operation of the state's Fire Academy at Montour Falls.

The volunteers were told that the funds are essential, and that state lawmakers should be urged not to make any cuts in that particular portion of the budget.

The dates for fire training activities at the Fire Academy were announced. But it was noted that the schedule is tentative, depending on whether funds for the Fire Academy are maintained by the state legislature.

The scheduled activities include: Fire Leadership Institute, April 7-8; instructional meeting for the New York State Association of County Fire Coordinators, April 28-29; basic training officers' workshop, June 1-3; advanced training officers' workshop, June 15-17; basic training officers' workshop, Oct. 5-7; annual fire marshals' and inspectors' seminar, Oct. 16-18.

In other matters, the deaths of three members of the association were reported: Charles Draudt from Valley Cottage, Henry Masten of Wallkill and Earl J. Stokes of High Falls.

It was reported that past president Alvin Beatty of New Paltz is a patient at the Albany Medical Center, Room 415.

The fire coordinator's report for January listed 126 fire calls and eight civilian casualties. The eight were victims of the Jan. 7 fire at the Pine Grove Resort Ranch in Kerhonkson.

The February meeting was held at the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Co., Kingston.

Area Dems Are Recognized

SHAWANGUNK — A new Democratic Committee in the Town of Shawangunk has been recognized by Democratic County Chairman James T. McCardle and includes the following: District One, Marc Fried and Frank Tabasco; District Two, Robert Elliott and Mrs. Barbara DeLany; District Three, Mrs. Vasilike Annenos; District Four, Mrs. Anne Weiss. There are two vacancies which the committee anticipates filling.

Fried, elected chairman of the committee has also announced the balance of the elected slate as follows: vice president, Elliott; secretary, Mrs. Weiss; treasurer, Mrs. DeLany.

The committee intends to take an active role in campaigning for Democratic candidates on the town, county, state and federal levels.

Fried, has been active in local and regional environmental matters for a decade, but first became involved in partisan politics only last year. After volunteer work with voter registration last spring, he organized a team of volunteers and brought the Democratic presidential campaign to Shawangunk and Gardiner. In September he was hired as full-time manager of the New Paltz Democratic Headquarters. Since the election, Fried has maintained close contact with Democratic leaders in the county, and was chiefly responsible for formation of the Shawangunk committee.

Mrs. Annenos is the only member of the group who does not need confirmation from the county Democratic committee. She was confirmed in 1971.

The Shawangunk committee plans to hold an informal public meeting in the near future, to discuss the party's plans and prospects for the upcoming election year, according to Fried.

CAMPAIGN PLANNERS — Wilbur A. DePauw (C) Rip Van Winkle Council chairman for the Sustaining Membership Enrollment campaign in Ulster and Greene Counties, meets with Martin M. Bier (R) Onteora District chairman, and Burt A. Ellis (L) who will head the SME campaign in the Onteora District, to discuss plans for the campaign, designed to raise funds to help more boys enjoy the benefits of Boy Scout programs.

DePauw Sustaining Chairman

KINGSTON — Wilbur A. DePauw, manager for the Prudential Insurance Company, has been named chairman of the 1973 Sustaining Membership Enrollment Campaign of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

DePauw has named Burt A. Ellis chairman for the Onteora District, which has a campaign goal of $13,000 to raise to support Scouting in the Kingston, Hurley, Esopus, West Hurley, Woodstock, East Ulster, West Ulster, Olive and Shandaken areas.

Ellis, president of Utility Platers Inc., is a 15-year Scouter and an experienced SME chairman. He said he is looking forward to surpassing the district's goal and thereby helping to bring Scouting to more youngsters in the area.

The SME campaign is unique in that the only people asked to contribute are Scouters and "Friends of Scouting." Letters have already been sent to all Scouters and "Friends," DePauw said, and a personal contact will be made in early March to people who do not respond to the letter.

Highland Youth Is Eagle Scout

HIGHLAND — Attaining Scouting's highest rank, James Dapp, 15, received the Eagle Scout Award Saturday night at the Highland Grange. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund M. Dapp, Red Top Road, Highland.

A member of Scouting since he joined Cub Scouts at the age of eight, young Dapp attained Cubbing's highest rank, the Webelos Award. Upon his 11th birthday, he joined Boy Scout Troop 70, Highland and held the following positions: Assistant Patrol Leader, Patrol Leader, Troop Quartermaster and is presently Senior Patrol Leader.

Dapp is a member of the Order of the Arrow, Half Moon Lodge 28 of the Rip Van Winkle Council, and has participated with the Dutchess County Council at the XIII World Jamboree, Asagiri Heights, Shizuoka, Japan. Last year he was the Crew Chief of the Rip Van Winkle Council's Philmont Baden-Powell, founders of expedition in Cimarron, N.Mex.

This year he will attend the National Jamboree with his Troop at Morrain State Park, Pa.

Dapp attends Highland High School and is in the 10th grade. He is a class representative on the Student Council and was co-captain of the JV Football Team and quarterback. He is also on the track team and the JV Basketball team.

He plays tenor saxophone for the Highlander Senior School Band and the School dance band, "The Keynotes." He is also a member of the All County and All State Bands. He is a communicant of the St. Augustine's Church, Highland, and is the fourth son to attain Eagle Scout in the Dapp family.

Flamingo Dinner Honors 12 in Area

SAUGERTIES — During 1972, 12 scouts from Ulster and Greene Counties achieved the rank of Eagle Scouts

They were: David Barger, Bruce Rappleyea, Robert Adsit, Louis LaConture, James Rioux, Richard Lenz, Herman Theirn, Jon Powell, Nelson Barnett Jr., Ronald Ward, Robert Ferrigan, and James Dapp.

They were honored and recognized at a special banquet Thursday night, Feb. 22 at the Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

The speaker for this recognition banquet was Assemblyman H. Clark Bell of Woodstock.

Other honored guests attending were the newly appointed Council Executive, Robert Browning and Council president, James Dwyer.

Food Career In the Army

KINGSTON

Sardi's. The Brown Derby. Fisherman's Wharf. The 21 Club. Antoinie's. Consolidated Mess No. 1. Cuisine at its best and young men can be a part of it.

"Be a part of the Army's career field in food service. We are spilling the beans on a career for people with experience or those looking for it," Sgt. Lloyd Canfield, local Army recruiter reports.

There are five Army Schools in this career group — Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., Fort Dix, N.J., Fort Ord, Calif. and Fort Polk, La.

The school is eight weeks long and is a "baste" upon the following topics: preparation of foods in large or small quantities, using standard Army recipes and equipment, cooking time and temperatures, methods for utilizing leftovers, sanitary precautions and principles of meat cutting

If you are interested check with SFC Canfield, Broadway and Maiden Lane, and he will give you some food for thought about this interesting career field in food service. And he'll also brief you on the army benefits.

NROS in 18th, Still Strong

ALBANY

Seventeen years ago the Naval Reserve Officers School opened its door in Albany.

And now in its 18th year the school is still going strong.

More than just for officers in the U.S. Navy, the school this year is offering college-level instruction in such fields as international law, Naval War gaming, amphibious operations and damage control. Officers in the Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Army and Air Force — whether they have finished or are serving their active duty — may enroll.

The classroom experience, two hours a week for 40 weeks, is designed around a curriculum of professional courses that provide general and specific naval training, with a purpose of keeping the officer abreast of the latest developments in the Navy and the world.

Besides the instruction, NROS offers the opportunity to receive orders for two weeks of active training duty each year. Students earn retirement points that can mean a retirement income at age 60 equivalent to a privately purchased annuity worth approximately $46,000.

Enrollment still is open Information about the school is available by contacting Captain R. J. Rosen, USN, 780 Washington Avenue, Albany.

No Plans for College Under GI Bill? If it's back to the old job for you now that you're discharged be sure you contact your former employer within 90 days of your discharge date if your former job was a permanent one. That way you'll ensure your rights to all benefits accrued while you were serving in the Armed Forces.

Dependents' Educational Assistance Program — Seventy-six women whose husbands were veterans of World War I were among some 10,000 wives trained last fiscal year under the VA Dependents' Educational Assistance program. Almost one-third of the trainees were wives and widows of Vietnam era servicemen. Approximately two-thirds of the trainees enrolled in college, while the balance entered vocational or technical training. The VA Dependents' Educational Assistance program provides benefits to children, wives and widows of veterans who died of a service - connected disabilities. Also eligible are wives and children of servicemen who are prisoners of war or missing in action, where such status has existed for 90 days or more. During fiscal year 1972, a total of 64,600 women and children took advantage of the program. This total represents an increase of some 8.5 per cent over fiscal year 1971.

Dependents may obtain detailed information on eligibility requirements and assistance allowances at the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs counseling center located at County Office Building, Kingston.

CHOOSING CHICKEN
Look for the U.S.D.A. Grade 'A' seal. It tells you that the chicken has short legs, a plump, well-filled body, and a moderate fat covering that indicates good flavor, texture and tenderness.

BROILER - FRYERS
Young, meaty, tender chickens weighing approx. 1 to 3½-lbs. You can roast, bake, barbecue, braise, stew, broil or fry them. Allow about ½ chicken per person for broiling; about 1½ pounds per person by other methods.

ROASTING CHICKEN
Slightly larger and older than broiler-fryers, they weigh 3 to 5 pounds and are best roasted. Allow ¾ to 1 pound per serving.

STEWING CHICKEN OR FOWL
A bird one year old or older, usually weighing 4½ to 6 pounds. They're a little tougher and are best cooked in liquid for soup, stew, fricassee or salad. Allow ½ to 1 pound per serving.

Storage; As soon as you get the fresh bird home, remove store wrapping, remove giblets. Re-wrap bird loosely in foil or plastic wrap and place in coldest part of your refrigerator for no more than 2 days. Cook giblets within 24 hours.

For Freezing: remove store wrap. Rinse bird under cold running water. Pat dry and wrap tightly in plastic wrap, freezer foil or freezer paper. It will keep 2-3 months.

Important: Always wash your hands, utensils and counter top after handling fresh poultry to avoid contaminating other foods.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

¼ cup olive oil
1 broiler-fryer 2½ to 3 lbs. cut-up
2 onions, sliced
2 garlic cloves minced
1 can Italian tomatoes (16-oz.)
1 can Tomato Sauce (8-oz.)
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 teaspoon crushed dried oregano
2 bay leaves
½ cup dry white wine

Brown chicken pieces in hot oil in skillet. Remove chicken and keep hot. Saute' onions and garlic in same oil until tender. Add other ingredients except wine, and blend. Cook for 5 minutes. Return chicken to skillet. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes. Add wine and cook, uncovered, for about 15 minutes more. Arrange chicken pieces on hot platter. Skim excess fat from sauce, remove bay leaves, and pour sauce over chicken. Serve with spaghetti or noodles.

PORTRAIT OF A MIME — Is the name of a program to be presented at Rhinebeck's Upstate Films Theatre March 2. The mime, who studied under world famous Marcel Marceau, is currently teaching a course at Ulster County Community College. Jon Harvey Laulicht, well-known pantomist and subject of the recent WNET special "Portrait of a Mime," has also had a one-man show at Carnegie Hall and The Cubiculo, the experimental theatre of the National Shakespeare Company in New York.

Taxpayers Give 'Paper'

POUGHKEEPSIE — A position paper on various aspects of state government has been issued by the Dutchess County Taxpayers' Association, including no-fault insurance and capital punishment, among other items.

Regarding no-fault: "We would . . . like to see the threshold amount raised to $2,500 and elimination of the $200 deductible."

On criminal law: "We favor reintroduction of the death penalty . . ." Reason given is that $16,000 a year to support each inmate was too much.

On pensions: "We strongly endorse reform in the outlandish state pension system . . . Private enterprise could never match the amounts being offered to public employes . . ."

Regarding mandated programs: "When you mandate programs on lesser governments you must provide the funds to carry these out."

On education: "New York State spent years and much money for the Fleishmann Commission report and nothing has come of it . . . We favor reduction of the excessive power . . . of the State Education Department . . ."

And the ever present tax: "We urge elimination of the surtax on the income tax as a start."

Regarding budget surplus: "The state budget surplus should be used to offset debt if you are unwilling to return it to the people in the form of a tax rebate."

And concerning information: "Control of the state super agencies must come under the screening of the state comptroller's office."

Series Working

RED HOOK

There is a lot more to a child's block than six planes.

At least, that is the idea behind the first of a series of "workshops" being held at Northern Dutchess Day Care Center for staff members of area nursery schools and day care centers.

Sally Tobin, a teacher in the pre-kindergarten program of the Poughkeepsie Board of Education, led the session on building blocks for teachers and volunteers from NDDCC, Red Hook; the Bard College Nursery School, Annandale; the Church Street Community Nursery School, Red Hook; and tne Teach-a-Tot Nursery School, Rhinebeck.

Also present were students from Dutchess Community College, Bard College, and the community who are volunteers at the Center.

Wooden unit blocks, made in specific dimensions, are the prime unstructured play material for young children, from toddlers to early elementary age, according to Ms. Tobin.

"Blocks are a learning tool which enable a young child to work out ideas about his environment, and through which children experience mathematical proportions and principles and learn manipulation, balance, and spatial concepts," she told participants.

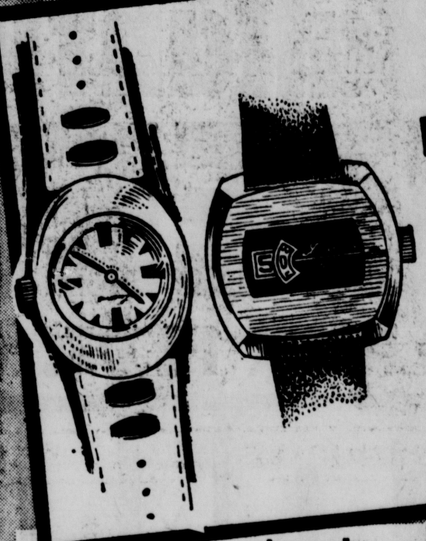

Large and small blocks in various shapes, and accessories such as rubber people, animals, cars, textile and carpet squares, and many "found" materials were demonstrated, as Ms. Tobin explained the role of the teacher in the block area and described the stages through which children progress as they play with them.

The second workshop today is scheduled to discuss the role of volunteers and aides in preschool centers.

We've decided to call ourselves what you have been calling us all along.

The Bank

You tell your friends you'll meet them for lunch after you go to the bank. Your secretary says she'll be right back, she just has to go to the bank. Almost everybody calls us the bank. So we made it official. From now on The Kingston Trust Company will be The Bank.

But even though our name's been changed, our service stays the same. Friendly, helpful and most of all, personalized.

Better yet, since we're now part of First Commercial Banks, we're affiliated with more than a hundred offices all over Northeastern New York. So it's easy to bank where you live or where you travel.

Personalized service, convenient locations. After all, you made The Kingston Trust Company what we are today. The Bank.

Atomic Development Authority; Search for Tomorrow... Today

By WADE BURKHART

NEW YORK CITY

The New York State Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA) has a futuristic name which might cause residents of rural Ulster County to wonder what sort of connection it might have with them.

However 'Buck Rogers' the name might be, ASDA is in the process of exercising one of its very down to earth functions at a still unnamed site in the Town of Lloyd. That function is the locating and securing of sites suitable for the construction of nuclear power plants.

ASDA's recently publicized activities in Lloyd are confined to extensive testing of the site's meteorological and geological condition before any final determination of the site's suitability for an atomic plant is made. The Lloyd site, and ASDA officials emphasize it, is not yet a "selected" site, but it is the "most advanced" of several sites ASDA is considering in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

If the Lloyd site is finally selected, it will have to meet certain major criteria, according to ASDA spokesman John Graham. One of these critera is a "considerable" amount of land more than 1,000 but probably less than 2,000 acres, according to ASDA Chairman James G. Cline. Graham said this land should not be in any competition for urban development, and must lend itself topologically to construction of the plants. Two or more atomic plants would probably be located on the Lloyd site if it is selected.

The second criterion is access to a lot of water. Any nuclear plant needs water for cooling purposes.

According to ASDA plans, if the Lloyd plants are built they will need much less water than many other nuclear plants. The Lloyd plants will use an evaporative cooling system, with cooling towers, which will only draw enough water from the Hudson River to replace that lost through evaporation. This is thought to be ecologically preferable to the system used at such plants as the Indian Point nuclear plant, which draws huge quantities of water from the Hudson, circulates it through the plant, and then returns it to the Hudson, causing, according to environmentalists, thermal pollution problems.

ASDA gives heavy emphasis to its siting program in its annual report, calling the program "site planning in the public interest." ASDA is charged with finding sites for nuclear power plants in advance of need. By not being tied to a rigid schedule, the annual report says ASDA is "not under pressure to act on less than complete and convincing information in its site selection deliberations."

One point which will get very thorough study on the Lloyd site is the prevailing meteorological conditions Graham said cooling towers give off a fairly constant discharge of steam, and that this steam can have an effect on local weather. However, if the towers are built high enough, he said, the steam is dissipated, minimizing local weather effects.

ASDA operates on a policy of "open planning." According to ASDA policy, final site selection is made only after the information developed from ASDA testing is made available to the concerned Federal, state, and local agencies and officials, environmental and civic groups, and the general public.

The ASDA annual report points out that the "open planning" policy is particularly important in the case of environmental groups, allowing them to review all the data and have their say.

According to Graham, environmental groups are kept informed of ASDA projects, and do have their say. ASDA is currently very active in the Lake Ontario area, and in connection with a site at Sterling, an ASDA representative fully briefed officials of the environmentally-concerned Sierra Club. Graham said. In connection with ASDA's Town of Yates site, the same ASDA official met with the local Federation of Sportsmans Clubs concerning access to hunting and fishing areas on the site.

Graham said the Sierra Club officials, while not necessarily endorsing the power plants themselves, did approve of the open planning methods of ASDA.

In addition, ASDA's advisory committee on siting is chaired by a member of the State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC), and another DEC member sits on it.

Besides the Lake Ontario area, and the Hudson Valley, ASDA is interested in locating atomic plants on the continental shelf off Long Island, and is currently developing an environmental analysis program for that area.

When the Lloyd site study is complete, Graham said it would be "widely distributed," and local public meetings would be held. According to Graham, local consultation is important to ASDA. "We talk to anybody who wants to talk to us, actually," he said.

Graham felt one big advantage to a locality from an ASDA sited atomic plant is the tax benefit. ASDA builds no plants itself: it merely secures the site and does the site planning, either acquiring the site for sale or lease to a private company, or allowing the private company to buy the land directly. Since an atomic plant costs about $400 million to build, and only employs about 100 people when it gets into operation, Graham said the plants could bring in a lot of tax money without adding much population to the locality.

Day With The Judge

Wayne Jones, of 9 Park Drive, Woodstock, elected "family court judge" in the Ulster County Legislature's Youth in Government Program, meets his real-life counterpart, Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn. Young Jones recently spent a day with Judge Elwyn, observing the jurist in his daily duties. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Ellenville Housing Project ...Consideration Requested

WASHINGTON, D.C. Congressman Howard Robison (R-27) has requested the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development give special consideration to the Ellenville Housing Project, now in danger of being caught up in the 18-month Presidential freeze.

Robison's letter to HUD, sent last week, said that to him it "seems incredible" that a project as far along as the Ellenville project is could "get so bogged down."

A presidential decree, issued Jan. 8 of this year, but backdated to Jan. 5, said that all Federally-funded housing projects such as that in Ellenville which did not have their preliminary loan agreements signed would be subject to an 18-month freeze.

Ellenville's preliminary loan agreement was not signed as of Jan. 5, and the project would appear to be subject to the freeze unless some extenuating circumstances can be proven to HUD.

According to a spokesman for Robison, the congressman is pursuing the Ellenville case both by direct appeal to the Secretary of HUD and through the HUD Congressional liaison office. The spokesman could give no time estimate on when word from HUD might be expected.

Ellenville Housing Authority Chairman Gordon Kent appealed to Robison for aid when it first became known, in the middle of February, that the Ellenville project was in danger. Kent said Tuesday that he had also, through Ellenville Mayor Robert Dowling, appealed for aid from Senator Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.).

Kent contends that the reason Ellenville's preliminary loan agreement was not signed is mainly the fault of HUD. He was asked to document his assertion by Robison's office, and according to Robison's spokeman Kent said the preliminary loan money was declared available in 1971, the application papers were sent from Ellenville to HUD in June 1972, and the preliminary loan agreement has still not been signed.

According to the Robison spokesman, at one point in December Kent actually traveled to New York City to the HUD offices there to physically search for and find the Ellenville paperwork which was lost on a HUD worker's desk.

The Robison spokesman would give no prediction as to the eventual outcome of the Ellenville plea, pointing out that a number of projects were in similar difficulty. Kent, however, said he was optimistic. "This is the kind of help we need," he said.

Also optimistic is the developer of the Ellenville project, Jobco Inc. Kent said Jobco, despite being warned that there was a good chance it would not be paid for further work, had actually conducted test borings Monday.

The Ellenville project, if and when it is finally built, will contain 70 units divided between two sites. One site, on the old American Legion property, will contain 30 senior citizen units, and the other site, on Spring Street, will contain 40 units of family housing.

Gilman Wants Briefing For Stewart Airport

WASHINGTON, D.C. Congressman Benjamin A. Gilman (26th Dist.) has called upon top level Federal Aviation Administration officials to meet with him in Washington to provide up-to-date briefings on all FAA considerations for Stewart Airport.

In his request, Congressman Gilman noted that although no Federal funding is currently appropriated for Stewart Airport, recent Federal court rulings and existing FAA jurisdiction over aircraft noise and training flights mandate an active interest in Stewart's present and future development.

Gilman also noted that since the FAA is currently involved in preparations of an environmental impact report regarding the proposed runway extension adequate liaison should be maintained between the FAA, the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and the citizens of the 26th Congressional District.

Congressman Gilman said, "Meeting with FAA officials is part of my continuing program to open lines of communication with all agencies involved in the Stewart project, and toward keeping the public, and local government fully aware of all plans for the development of this facility."

Congressman Gilman has been pressing MTA Director Dr. William Ronan for an early meeting with local government officials to set ground rules for the anticipated public hearings to follow the release of MTA's Stewart Master Plan, Phase Once.

Pageant Scholarships $1000 for Winners

Scholarships totaling $1,000 will be shared by the winners of this year's Miss Ulster County Scholarship Pageant to be held Saturday, April 7 at Saugerties High School auditorium.

With the cash award for the winner goes an opportunity to compete in the Miss New York State Pageant at Olean in July, a stepping stone to the title of Miss America.

There is still time to file intentions to become a Pageant contestant. Three orientations have already been held and there are now six potential candidates for the title.

The next orientation will be held Thursday, March 1 at 7:30 p.m. in Woodstock Elemetary School, Route 375. Pageant officials will be in attendance to explain all the facts about Pageant participation.

Richard A. Aguanno, 26 Louis Avenue, Saugerties is entries chairman. Entry forms are available at all London's department store, Joseph's Beauty Salon, Saugerties; Ulster County Chamber of Commerce, Governor Clinton Hotel.

SAUGERTIES ORIENTATION — A brief review of the 18-year history of the Miss Ulster County Scholarship Pageant and various other facets of Pageant participation were outlined for several prospective contestants in this year's edition at last Wednesday's orientation session held at Saugerties Savings Bank meeting room. The Scholarship Pageant will be held Saturday, April 7 at Saugerties High School auditorium. Left to right are Christine Johnson, Rhonda Reed, George Leombruno, Pageant producer and Dawn Gado. Rebekahs Plan Special Program

The anniversary of the birth of Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Rebekah Degree, will be observed at the March 6 meeting of Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge No. 34 in Odd Fellows Temple, Saugerties. Past noble grands will be honored and secret pals revealed.

Committees, appointed by Josie Dederick, noble grand, at the Feb. 20 meeting include Hilda Van Etten, invitations; Ruth Transom, gifts; Dorothy Imhoff, Marie Gundersen, Ruth Transom, Mary Hommell, vice grand, refreshments; Florence and Mildred Geppert, vice grand and noble grand, visiting.

Josie Dederick announced the 1973 Rebekah Assembly Session will be held in Saratoga Springs May 13-17, with Holiday Inn as headquarters. As February was proclaimed to be Educational Foundation Month, members voted to make a donation to that fund. A donation was made also to Ulster County Heart Fund.

An invitation was received from Queen of the Catskill Mountains Rebekah Lodge to attend a Memorial Service for deceased members at Blue Mountain Reformed Church on June 3. A large attendance is anticipated.

A message was read from Leona Moore, president of the International Association of Rebekah Assemblies.

Refreshments were served by Josie Dederick and Anna Minkler.

Couple Observes 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Finch of 68 Emerick Street, Kingston, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently. A surprise party was given in their honor by their three children, daughter-in-law, and son-in law: Mr. and Mrs. Barry (Jeanette) Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Martin (Debra) Stoutenburg, Leah Ann, at home. Mr. and Mrs. Finch also have two grandchildren, Melissa Lynn Finch and Martin Stoutenburg Jr.

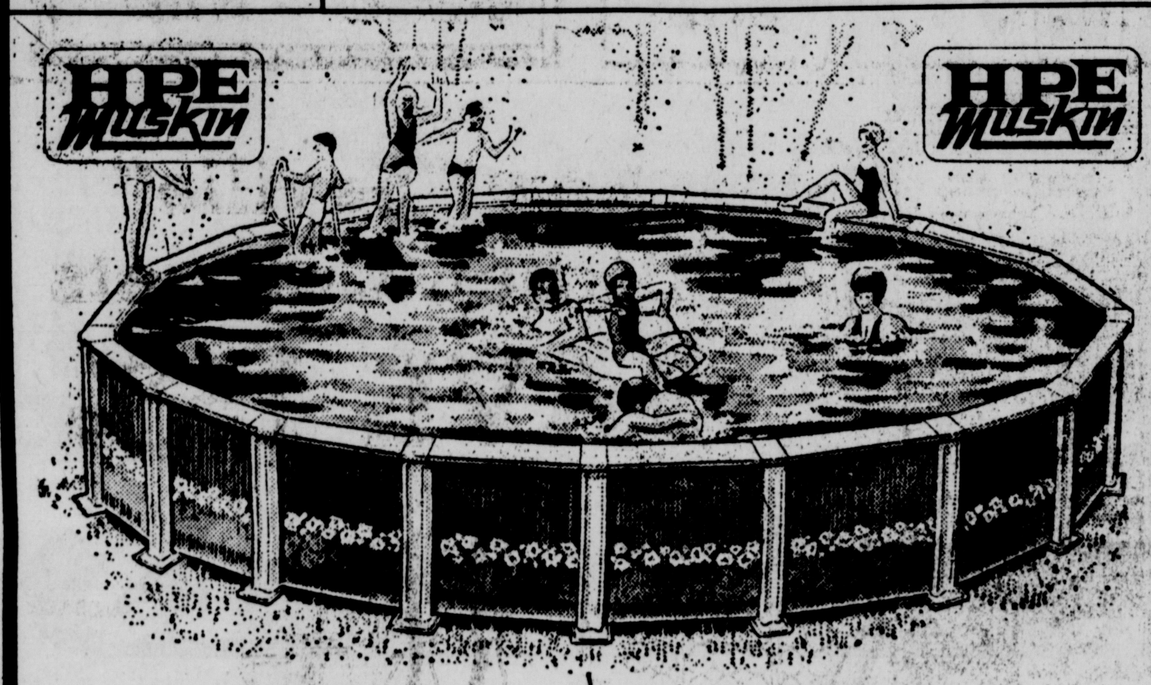

The couple was married in Holy Cross Church, Kingston. Mr. Finch is employed by Siller Beef Company.

The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch of Sunset Park. Many gifts and congratulatory messages were received.

Approximately 45 relatives and friends attended.

Advice from a Furrier—

Of course you can wait until the finest stores have some manufacturer to make them some Mink Capes. You can even wait until the departent stores come out with varying styles at varying prices . . But, at Model Mink we not only have the BEST, but we have the FINEST, and we have the most RARE. And you cannot today shop anywhere to compare prices, for there are none to compare ours with.

Another season you may be able to buy a fine Mink Cape at higher prices, or you may be able to buy a poorer cape at lower.

Some of our Mink Capes have more pelts in them than are in a COAT of the same length.

Our Mink CAPES have more labor in them than goes into most coats.

Hudson Valley Chapter of NASW Reports Upcoming Workshop

"Man and His Mind-Changers" is the title of one of the workshops to be presented at the Twelfth Annual Institute of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers (NASW) which will be held on Tuesday, March 27, at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie. Moderating the workshop will be Lawrence Pixley, MSW, social worker at the Dutchess County Alcohol and Drug Abuse Clinic, Poughkeepsie. Mr. Pixley received his BA degree from State University of New York at Albany and an MS degree from Simmons College School of Social Work, Boston, Mass. His area work experience includes employment as a caseworker at Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Appearing on the panel will be Alban J. Coghlan, MD, Medical Director of Holy Cross Adolescent Drug Abuse Program, Rhinecliff. Dr. Coghlan, a native of Ireland, is a graduate of University College and its Medical School, Dublin, Ireland, where he received his degree with honors in Psychiatry and Pediatrics.

Locally, Dr. Coghlan was involved in several on-going community epidemiology research projects at the Psychiatric Research Unit, Dutchess County Field Station, Hudson River State Hospital from 1969-1970. He was the psychiatrist at the Woodstock Musical Festival in September 1969; from 1970-1971 he was advisor and consultant to the Commissioner of Mental Health, Dutchess County in setting up Drug Abuse Programs. From 1971-1972 Dr. Coghlan was Director of the Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Clinic Dutchess County Mental Health Center, Poughkeepsie. Currently, he is a consultant to the V.A. Hospital, Castle Point; in regard to admissions with drug problems, he is associate attending staff member, Department of Psychiatry and Neurology, St. Francis Hospital.

The all-day Institute, under the chairmanship of Elizabeth Vivas, Coordinator of Children's Committee, Family Counseling Service of Dtuchess County, is open to all interested persons, professionals and volunteers. The keynote address will be given by Dr. Alfred J. Kahn, Professor of Social Work, Columbia University School of Social Work. Ten afternoon workshops will carry out the general theme, THE NEXT FOUR YEARS. Information regarding registration may be obtained by contacting Elizabeth H. Roosa, ACSW, Box 267, Hopewell Junction, N.Y. 12533.

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyce of 88 Harwich Street, Kingston, were guests of honor Saturday, Feb. 24th at a dinner in observance of their 65th wedding anniversary. The event took place at the Holiday Inn in Kingston. Married Feb. 26, 1908 in Kingston, the couple have three children: Charles of Kingston, Harold of Port Ewen; and Mrs. Arthur (Elizabeth) Burger of Kingston. They also have four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mr. Boyce is a retired New York Central Railroad employee. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyce, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boyce, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burger, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Boyce and Mr. and Mrs. David Peterson. (Freeman photo by Powell)

St. Joseph's Altar-Rosary Group Schedules Socials

Upcoming activites were discussed at the February 19 meeting of St. Joseph's Altar-Rosary Society.

Mrs. Donald Bradley, Communion breakfast chairman, announced that the breakfast will take place Sunday, March 25, at Capri '400' Restaurant, Port Ewen, after 9 o'clock Mass. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Donald Bradley or Mrs. William Ball.

Plans were made for the St. Patrick's Day dance to be held Saturday, March 17, at Hurley Mission Church hall. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Kenneth Decker or other Society members.

Mrs. Pat Murphy explained the purpose of the Social Action Committee in respect to the various needs of the people in the parish. One of the Committee's main accomplishments is the establishment of the Senior Citizen Social which is held in conjunction with St. Mary's Parish every third Thursday of the month. Work is also being done in the Spanish community, and an additional afternoon Spanish Mass is offered every Sunday, after which a social hour takes place. Plans are being initiated also for visiting shut-ins.

After the business meeting, the Rev. James LeBar showed slides and movies of a recent trip he took to New Mexico with several Boy Scouts of the parish.

Mrs. Louis Misasi presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Dougherty, Mrs. Collette Bean, and Mrs. George Kupec.

International Cooking Course

International Cooking is the title of a credit-free course to be offered this spring by Ulster County Community College.

The course is designed for people who want to have some fun and bring some "adventure" to their daily menus. Covered will be new, different and exotic recipes which don't require elaborate work or preparation.

Each session will teach participants to prepare a complete meal native to countries such as China, Hungary, India, Germany, Switzerland, Israel, Sweden or Russia.

The instructor will be Shoshana Eisenberg, who will conduct the sessions in the kitchen of her Rifton home. She has cooked professionally for many years and studied gourmet cooking at New York University's Hotel Technology Division and the China Institute in New York.

The course will meet on eight Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m. starting March 8. The deadline for registrations is March 1. Further information can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Office at the College.

Is There REALLY A Little Old Suitmaker?

Okay. Maybe they DON'T sit cross-legged on the floor to perform their hand-tailoring miracles. But, when it comes to old-world perfection, our tailoring staff is a holdover from the good old days. Days of pride in workmanship. Of care and attention to detail.

Bring them your trickiest fitting problem. They smile and say, "Can do!" No wonder your suit or sport coat or slacks fit — really fit — as though custom-made for you alone. Because they are.

Nest Egg Not Meant for Birds Who Have Flown

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: During our 30 years of married life, I worked two jobs so as to provide a good home for my wife and children. Now the kids are married and on their own — or so we thought.

My wife and I saved a little nest egg for our retirement years, but it seems that the style these days is to hand over the money to the kids for down-payments on homes, furniture, or just to help them pay their rent!

I am against this. I say, let them work for it the way we did. When they work for things themselves, they appreciate them more. Why should we dig into our savings to make life easier for them.

My wife is a softy and has started to hand out money to our kids. Of course, there is no such thing as a "loan" or a "note" with your own children. It's just a present. Please print this with your answer. She thinks I am tight and hardhearted when I say, "No more!"

DAD IN HACKENSACK, N.J.

DEAR HACKENSACK: Let the kids hack it themselves — in Hackensack and everywhere else! I'm with you, Dad.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a 35-year-old daughter who has been married for 14 years to a man who is the most overbearing, foul-mouthed bully who ever lived.

He yells at her in front of people and he orders her around like she was his servant. Agnes has worked to help support the family (they have four children) and between her job and her home she has her hands full. Her husband has never lifted a hand to help her at home. Every weekend this bum is either playing golf or at some kind of sports event.

Agnes is a gentle person who never stands up for herself. She just lets him push her around.

I contend that as her father, I have the right to demand that he treat her with the respect she deserves.

I would like your opinion.

SON IN LAW PROBLEMS

DEAR PROBLEMS: I realize it hurts you to see your daughter abused, but you have no "right" to demand anything. Agnes is an adult, and if she allows herself to be pushed around and treated like a servant, it's her problem, not yours. And until she makes a few demands and stands up to him, she can expect more of the same.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am in the process of suing my husband for extreme physical cruelty. He settles all disagreements with his fists, and the people at the emergency ward at the hospital are sick of seeing me.

My lawyer advised me to find somewhere else to live until we could get into court, so some friends took me in. (I am 30, and have three children.)

I was given custody of the children and also the house and furnishings my husband and I owned jointly. When he was served and ordered to leave the premises, he stripped the place of all the furniture, including two television sets and the radio. He even took the light bulbs. He was ordered to pay me a certain amount for child support, but I haven't seen a penny of it.

My husband has been seen out dancing every night. My lawyer told me not to go out with any men, but I am losing my sanity sitting here in an empty house with nothing to watch or listen to and sleeping in a borrowed sleeping bag. I called my lawyer and his answering service said he went on a vacation and will be gone for six weeks. What should I do?

STIR CRAZY IN ARKANSAS

DEAR STIR: Every lawyer should have a colleague his clients can consult in his absence. If yours has not, you would be justified in finding another lawyer. Check with your local Legal Aid Society or the County Bar Association.

Speaker Named for Conference

Robert S. Strauss, Democratic National Chairman, will be the featured speaker at the April 8th dinner of the 22nd Annual Women's Division Political Conference of the Democratic State Committee. Mr. Strauss' address will be one of the highlights of the two-day statewise conference, which will be held at the Albany Hyatt House, Albany.

According to Mae Gurevich, Democratic State Vice Chairwoman and Chairwoman of the Women's Division which has hosted the event for the past 22 years, this will be Mr. Strauss' first official speaking appearance in New York State since his election as head of the National Party last December.

The theme of the conference, which will be held on Sunday and Monday, April 8th and 9th, is "Government — Its Changing Role in New York State."

Recent Dance

A Valentine Dance was held recently at Fair Street Reformed Church. The dance was sponsored by the AYRC, Area Youth for Retarded Children, for the young people of Emma Wygant Elementary School and the people of the workshop on Jansen Avenue.

Music was provided by Klockwork, a local musical group. Appreciation was extended to area bakeries and florists for their donation of pastries and flowers.

Elks Auxiliary

The Ladies Elks Auxiliary 550 will hold its next meeting Monday, Mar. 5, at 8 p.m.

As the January and February meetings were cancelled, important new and old business topics are on the agenda to be discussed. A panel of officers for 1973-74 will be presented at this meeting.

Serving on the nominating committee are Mrs. Marie Fleming, Mrs. Della Cramer and Mrs. Betty Oppenheimer.

After the business session, refreshments will be served and a social hour held.

President, Mrs. Millie Cozza, urges each member to attend this important meeting.

* * *

Coin-Collecting

The Mid Hudson Numismatic Club held its bi-monthly meeting at the Community Room of Saugerties Savings Bank. The recent coin show was discussed. Members were gratified by the large attendance and the widespread interest shown by the public. The next coin show is slated for April 29 at Masonic Hall in Saugerties.

After the business meeting, Paul Menninger gave a short talk on Counterfeit Coins. He had drawn an illustration showing how some Lincoln cents can be altered to resemble a 1914-D cent which is rare.

The Club meets the first and third Thursdays of each month at the Community Room of Saugerties Savings Bank. Anyone interested in coin collecting is welcome to join the Club.

Annual Mardi Gras

St. Mary of the Snow PTA will sponsor its traditional Mardi Gras on Saturday at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties from 9 to 1. Costumes are encouraged but not essential.

The Grand March will take place at 10 p.m. Awards will be made in various categories.

A hot and cold buffet will be served. Music for dancing will be provided by Vince Edwards and his Orchestra. A special "happening" is planned for the stroke of 12 o'clock.

Reservations may be made with Dick Connors or Mrs. Pasquale Marro.

Pancake Supper

A pancake and sausage supper is scheduled for Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. at Rosendale Firehall, Main Street, Rosendale.

The public is invited.

Rug Braiding

Mrs. Mary Hansen was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Merry Mountain Maids. Mrs. Hansen demonstrated rug braiding.

A special meeting is planned for Tuesday, Mar. 13, at the Olive Library. Spring craft projects will be started.

Supper Planned

Plans for a corned beef and cabbage supper were planned at the February 20 meeting of Troop and Post 12 Mothers Club. The event will take place Saturday, March 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Old Dutch Church in Kingston. A penny social is being planned also for April 7. Tickets for the supper may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Rosemary Ellis or Mrs. Mary Houghtaling.

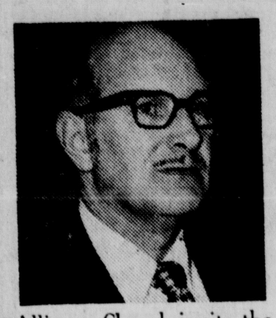

Sale Slated

Final plans are being formulated for the Trash and Treasure Sale to be held at St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany Avenue, Kingston, on Tuesday, Mar. 6, from 9:30 to 4 p.m.

Contest Winner, Recital

Norma Hsi, 14 year old pupil of Mme. Isabelle Byman, was New York State and Eastern Regional Baldwin audition contest winner. Another pupil of Mme. Byman, David Johnson, a Master of Music candidate at the Manhattan School of Music, is giving a piano recital at the Museum of the City of New York on Sunday, March 4.

Mme. Byman, a noted concert pianist, will be remembered by many in the Woodstock area. She was a frequent performer with Maverick Concerts.

Rev. George B. Osborne will leave our city for Watertown next week.

The congregation of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church invite the many friends and associates of Rev. and Mrs. Osborne to attend a farewell buffet in their honor on Friday evening, 7:30, at the church hall, 90 Millers Lane, Kingston.

Dual-Control Car Donated

RHINEBECK — A new Chevrolet dual-control car has been loaned again this semester by the Rhinebeck Garage for use in the district's driver and safety education program.

It is the fifth straight year that Rhinebeck Garage has provided such a service.

Keys to the car were turned over to Kenneth H. Fuller, driving education instructor, by Thomas Bartshorn, dealer. The car will be used to provide behind the wheel training to 72 students this year. Thirty-six classroom periods are also included in the program.

Fuller congratulated the local dealership for its "fine public spirited contribution to safety. Records show that youngsters who have successfully completed driver education courses are involved in only half as many accidents as untrained drivers."

Arrangements for the loan of the car to Rhinebeck Central School were made through the Automobile Club of New York, local affiliate of the American Automobile Association.

Can Ulster Be Stopped in Region XV?

Play Begins Thursday

By IRA FUSFELD

STONE RIDGE

Could there possibly be a team in Region XV with the audacity to enter Senate Gym and beat the home town, defending champion, top seeded Ulster County Community College Senators in the three-day basketball tournament that begins here Thursday afternoon?

Or is the 1973 round ball classic merely going to be a launching pad for Ulster's second straight trip to the nationals in Kansas?

One thing is certain: there are seven visiting teams just itching to knock off the high and mighty Senators, who have virtually wrecked havoc on hardwoods both at home and on the road for two straight seasons now. And if my team can't do it, yours will do fine, thank you.

The whole thing begins with an attractive twin-bill Thursday at 1 p. m. In the opener, physically powerful Westchester, No. 2 seed in the tourney, plays the always dangerous Manhattan. Then at 3 p.m. it will be the tough Aggies from Farmingdale facing upstart Sullivan Community.

In the evening doubleheader, highscoring Rockland Community tangles with Staten Island at 7 p.m., followed by Ulster's dual with eighth seeded Greater Hartford.

The survivors of the opening round meet in Friday night's semi-finals, then the winners go at it for all the marbles Saturday at 9 p.m., preceded by an all-star game at 6:30.

One More Stop

Unlike last year when Ulster won the Regionals and an automatic berth in the Nationals in Kansas, this year's champion must play one more game before making the plane reservations. That showdown will be against Region III king on a neutral floor a week from tonight (March 7).

As game time draws near, the Region XV coaches are playing it close to the vest. Ulster is the host as well as favorite, and as such the Senators are drawing kind words. But if the likes of Westchester, Farmingdale, Rockland, and the rest didn't have ideas of beating UCCC, they wouldn't have taken the time to visit Stone Ridge's beautiful countryside.

Thus, it's no surprise to hear things like, "Ulster is No. 1 but . . ." all along the line.

The experts are saying that Westchester and Farmingdale will get past the first round as will Ulster and Rockland. That's as far as predictions go.

The whisperers say Westchester can handle Farmingdale if the Vikings are at full strength (big Mike Young has been hurting), and that Rockland has the personnel to turn in an upset of Ulster. But no one was talking loud enough to be heard on that score.

Never Beaten

Fact is, Ulster has never lost a game on its Senate Gym floor and has beaten each team in its bracket once already this season. Manhattan is the only team in the tournament to have tasted victory against the Senators, and that was a one-point, disputed, home-court decision.

It's obvious why UCCC is favored.

Ulster coach Mike Perry is about as pleased with the progress of his team as you can expect for a guy who predicted a .500 season. He admits that the recent performances of the Senators (they've won 14 in a row) have been gratifying, but he tempers it with "I'm not happy with our press," just to keep the guys on their toes.

Even the opener with Greater Hartford, a team UCCC topped 92-67 with two college deans running the show while he was hospitalized, has Perry coming up with a pessimistic note.

"Evidently Greater Hartford is the easiest team in the tournament, that's why they were seeded eighth," he says, but quickly adds, "but I don't know a thing about them other than their Dan Jones is one of the best players in the region. They score a lot of points, and could be tough."

Try not to snicker.

Interesting Openers

The other three games on the opening card are far more interesting. Westchester-Manhattan for instance, has a Viking team that has lost only to Ulster and Rockland. The Westcos can bully you to death if you have a tendency to be bullied. Manhattan teams generally don't.

"We're coming in loose," says Manhattan coach Howie Jones. "The pressure is on Ulster. There is no doubt they are the strongest team in the tournament."

Remember . . . Manhattan beat Ulster, and the New Yorkers can call upon one Bosco Pearson, a blue-chipper.

And then there's Farmingdale-Sullivan. The records say Farmingdale, but a closer look reveals that one of the Aggies' victories was a mere one-point triumph over the Generals.

"We feel we can beat Farmingdale," Sullivan coach John Webester said in a radio interview the other night. "We lost to them by one at Farmingdale. My main problem now is that I have five exhausted basketball players. I'd like to rest them."

Webster says his team is explosive, and you'd have to agree what with Mike Hay, the region's top scorer, and John Dickson on his side. Farmingdale, however, is far from a slouch.

"We are offensively disciplined, and defensively disciplined," comments Aggies coach Tom Galeazzi. "Our defense is responsible for what success we've had."

Galeazzi admits that losing big Calvin Whitworth to eligibility requirements was quite a blow. But he can "suffer" with two good ones in dynamic Henry Kinsey an Steve Shell.

Optimism

Finally, there's Rockland-Staten Island. One thing this one has that the others don't is a couple of optimistic coaches.

"I think we will be the surprise of the tournament," claimed Evan Pickman of Staten Island. "I feel we can match up to Ulster better than any team in the tournament."

If so, the Islanders will have to do it without the now ineligible Mike Morton. Their top operator will be 6-3 Martin Williams.

Rockland boasts Wade Pittman and Larry Frazier, whose presence has instilled respect, if not fear, in gymnasiums throughout the Hudson Valley for years. No wonder coach Howie Pierson doesn't get any arguments when he says "We have the firepower ability to win."

It promises to be an exciting tournament and it should draw packed houses for each program. The capacity of the Senate Gym has been increased by some 500 to 2600 with the addition of bleachers for the stage at one end of the court. Advanced ticket sale has been brisk and many more fans are expected to buy their ducats at the door, especially if Ulster keeps winning.

Perry, who is of course doubling as tournament director, says publicity for the event will be greater than for any other Region V event. All Mid-Hudson newspapers are expected to be represented as well as two from Long Island, one from Westchester, and possibly another from Hartford.

In addition, Sport Magazine is researching a feature on Farmingdale's Kinsey, and the New York Times is interested in a story on the tournament champion.

Local radio and television is also planned.

Only Sullivan will not be staying in a local motel, the Generals instead choosing to commute each day. The other teams will be making use of Kingston-area facilities.

Hosts

Each of the seven visiting teams have been assigned hosts to greet them and aid them in any way during their stay. The hosts will be Judge Hubert Richter (Greater Hartford), Kingston Mayor Francis R. Koenig (Rockland), S. James Matthews (Manhattan), David Rylance (Farmingdale), Len Cane (Staten Island), Robert Murray (Sullivan), and Harry Kapreilian (Westchester).

Perry predicts that some $5000 in revinue will be gained by local merchants as a result of the tournament.

Ulster must invest $3,500 in the tournament for programs, officials, trophies, and to guarantee the winner funds for the possible trip to the nationals. That money will come back in program ads and sales and gate receipts. Any profit goes to the region.

It is expected that many of the 208 ECAC colleges will send scouts to the tournament, which makes the affair a showcase for basketball talent.

And the whole thing will be just a little bit tastier for the team that goes all the way.

Will Ulster get knocked off?

Tourney Teams at a Glance

Ulster

No. 1 Seed

Fourth regional appearance for coach Mike Perry's 27-4 Senators. Ulster is Mid-Hudson Conference champ, defending Region XV champ, and the 17th ranked junior college team in the nation.

Leading the Senators are All-American candidate and Region XV MVP Jackie Knowles (15.5), 6-1 Region all-star Henry Nixon (17.6) and 6-5 honorable mention Coleman Link (15.4).

Team defense (61.2) is ninth best in nation. Offense, 85.3.

Westchester

No. 2 Seed

Local Host: Harry Kaprillian

This is the tenth regional tournament for the Vikings (25-5), fourth under coach Ralph Arietta. Best previous finish was third in 1971.

Vikings are tournament's biggest team. Starters include 6-7 Mike Young (19.0), 6-6 Bruce Frazier (13.0) and 6-5 Al Hall (11.0). Young is a first team all-star, and Frazier and Hall are Region XV honorable mention selections. Guards Joe (Pop) Gibson, Dave Gray, and Charlie Croke round out the top six.

Offensive average is 80.0, defense is 64.0.

Farmingdale

No. 3 Seed

Local Host: David Rylance

Coach Tom Galeazzi's Aggies won the Long Island crown and a 22-4 overall record into the tournament.

This is Farmingdale's third trip to the regionals. The Aggies were runnersup last season and were eliminated in the first round in 1969. Leading scorer is All-Region pick Henry Kinsey (16.7). Other top players include sophomore guard Steve Shell (12.5) and 6-6er's Mike Barnes and Paul Krabbeler.

Farmingdale led the nation in total defense throughout much of the early season.

Rockland

No. 4 Seed

Local Host: Mayor Francis Koenig

Rockets (17-7) posted best school record in seven years under coach Howie Pierson. This is their second trip to the regionals, they were a first-round victim in 1966.

Ex-Newburgh Free Academy stars Wad Pittman and Larry Frazier, both popular area drawing cards, lead a high-powered offense which has cracked century mark eight times this season.

Pittman (27.3) and Frazier (21.6) are backed by Bob Oswald, Frank Pepe, and Charlie Jackson.

Offensive average is 92.8, defensive, 81.5.

Staten Island

No. 5 Seed

Local Host: Len Cane

Dolphins' fourth trip to the regionals. Team was 17-8 this year under second-year coach Evan Pickman. In previous appearances, Staten Island was runnerup in 1970 and eliminated in first round in 1965 and 1971.

Soph forward, 6-3½ Martin Williams (16.0) is Region XV honorable mention. Other starters include 6-6 frosh center Iris Stevens, 6-4 frosh forward Keith Hudson, and soph guard Joe Polizzi.

Team offense is 76.0; defense, 68.1.

Sullivan

No. 6 Seed

Local Host: Robert Murray

Third regional tournament for the Generals, first under coach John Webster. Sullivan made the quarter-finals in 1969 and lost in first round in 1967.

The Generals are 17-10 this season behind freshman Mike Hay (27.6), one of the nation's leading scorers. Frosh John Dickson (24.2) is other half of Sullivan's one-two punch. Starters include 6-3 center Ken Haskins, 6-1 guard Errol Smalls, and soph Mark Bowers.

Team offense, 89.8; team defense, 80.5.

Manhattan

No. 7 Seed

Local Host: S. James Mathews

In four years, coach Howie Jones has brought three Panther teams to the regionals. Manhattan won the title in 1971 and lost in semi-finals last season.

Top operator is region all-star Bosco Pearson (21.0), who is the only soph and leading rebounder at 6-2. Starters include Clarence Shine (14.0) and Weldon Richardson (11.0).

Manhattan was 15-9 on the season with an offensive average of 84.3 and a defensive mark of 73.2.

Greater Hartford

No. 8 Seed

Local Host: Judge Hubert Richter

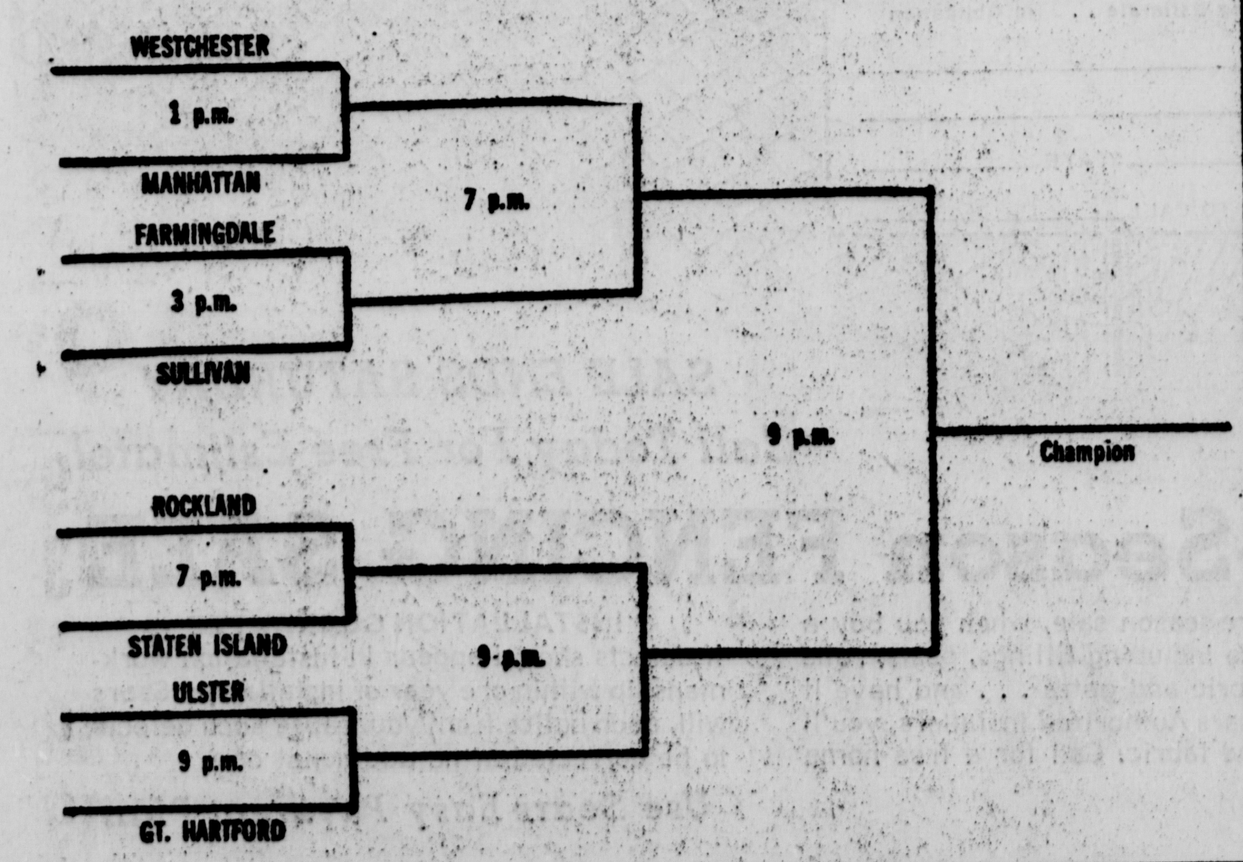

First trip to regional in six years of basketball. This season marked the JUCO debut of coach Howie Dickerman.

Colts (17-6) are led by two-time Region XV honorable mention 6-5 Dan Jones (20.0). Other starters are soph guards George Evans and Kevin Flanagan and 6-3 frosh forwards Art Laffin and Dennis Johnsky Team led region in offense for most of season and finished with 93.5 average. Defense averaged 81.6.

JACKIE KNOWLES

Knowles...Most Valuable Player in MHC

STONE RIDGE

Jackie Knowles, the little backcourt man who has piloted Ulster County Community College's basketball team to a 27-4 record and the No. 1 seeding in this weekend's Region XV tournament, today was named as unanimous choice for Mid-Hudson Conference Most Valuable Player.

Knowles thus becomes the first Ulster player ever to gain MVP honors in both the Region and the Conference in the same season. Jackie had edged Sullivan's Mike Hay for Region citation last week.

It is also believed to be the first time that a Mid-Hudson Conference performer has earned the vote of every coach in the loop for the MVP award.

Joining Knowles on the first team are Hay, Ulster's Henry Nixon, Mike Young of Westchester, and Larry Frazier of Rockland. Nixon is a repeater on the first team.

Second team picks are Bruce Frazier and Al Hall of Westchester, Coleman Link of Ulster, Wade Pittman of Rockland, and John Dickson of Sullivan.

On the honorable mention list are Bob Lake of Orange, Ed Davis and Rob Ward of Dutchess, Sam Taylor of Post, and Ike Chestnut of Ulster.

Last year, the first team included Nixon, Ray Brown and Keith Daley of Dutchess, Sam Quimby of Orange and Hall of Westchester. Brown was MVP.

Link and Pete Koola of Ulster were on the second team last year along with Jake Battenfeld of Westchester, and Jim Williams and Ron Sprung of Sullivan.

Sawyers Lose, 52-33

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties High School's DCSL basketball season ended the way it began Tuesday night — with a loss. The Sawyers were thumped by visiting Roosevelt, 52-33, to close out a disappointing 1-15 season.

It was a fairly even game in the first half with cold shooting on both sides holding the score down and keeping the Roosevelt lead to five points. Jim Halgas and Theral Summers loosened up after the break to lead the Presidents into command, and the winners broke it open in the final stanza. Halgas led all scoring with 14 points, and Summers added 11.

For the Sawyers it was the final setback in what has been a long year of frustration and defeat. Against the tall Presidents, who finished in second place with a 12-4 final record, it was ice-cold team shooting that froze any hope of an upset.

"We were just way off," said Sawyer coach Larry Marcus. "We only shot about 20 per cent. Larry Panella played a pretty good game, but on the whole we made the same mistakes we've been making all year."

Panella totalled 12 points as the only Sawyer to break into double figures. It takes good shooting to beat a strong rebounding team like Roosevelt, and Saugerties just didn't have it.

Commenting on the season, Marcus voiced his disappointment:

"I didn't think we'd be that great, but I didn't think we'd be that bad either. We just continually made the same mistakes all year, and they were fundamental mistakes which were very hard to correct. Our biggest problems were inconsistency, inexperience and a lack of height."

But youth may cause that old Brooklyn cry of "wait 'til next year!" to be heard once again in Saugerties. There were three sophomores in the staring Sawyer lineup Tuesday, and the underclassmen in general saw lots of action this year.

"We have a good nucleus," said Marcus, "but we'll have to do things differently next year. It's a tough league. I just have one more comment — Beacon will not win the sectionals."

And Marcus the Prophet may know what he's talking about. As the Sawyer mentor made his statement, Poughkeepsie High finished trouncing the once-invincible Bulldogs on their own court, 79-68, to end Beacon's DCSL winning streak at 15.

In other league action, fourth-place Arlington knocked off homestanding Ketcham, 65-51, and Lourdes beat Jay, 76-59.

Raiders Down Highland

HIGHLAND

In a rough, physical contest that wrapped up the UCAL basketball season, homestanding Highland High School staggered in the fourth period as visiting Red Hook took home a 55-48 victory Tuesday night behind 18 points by John Funk.

In the only other action on the schedule involving a UCAL team, Ellenville, runnerup in the Southern Division this year, lost a non-league battle with Fallsburg, 69-58.

Highland fell behind early in the game but made a comeback and finally took a one-point lead in the final period. Losing coach Dick Becker gave his version of the turning point:

"It was about 43-42, and we started trading baskets for a while. It was rough, and Mark Watson was injured slightly in a collision. That pause in the game just seemed to break our momentum, and we couldn't hold the lead."

The Raiders were sharper in the first quarter and surprised Highland with a zone defense in the second quarter to build up a 12-point lead at the half. J. C. Gersch, who finished with 14 points, and Roy Sears, who netted 12, spurred the Big Blue's surge after the intermission.

Red Hook ended the season in fourth place in the South with an 8-6 record just ahead of 5-9 Highland.

Ellenville was bombed by Fallsburg back in the beginning of the season, but for a while Tuesday it looked like the Ellies would turn the tables on their visitors. Rick Kaplan and Al Steele were strong off the boards, and Ellenville led by as many as seven points late in the game.

But there were four minutes left to go when Kaplan drew his fifth personal and left the game with 21 points. Seconds later speedy Ray Younger joined him, and it was all over but the shouting.

Ricky Woodard with 19 and Frank Smith with 16 points paced the victors as Fallsburg outscored the Ellies 20-6 in the final quarter. Ellenville finished 11-5 overall; Fallsburg went to 14-2.

Allen Signs 3-Year Contract for $675,000

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Just a year ago, Dick Allen was baseball's bad man. No team, it seemed, was willing to put up with his idiosyncracies for very long.

The Chicago White Sox took their turn with the temperamental slugger last season, acquiring him from the Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for pitcher Tommy John. Now the White Sox are not only willing to put up with Allen, they're paying him more money than any player in the history of the major leagues.

Allen, who changed the White Sox from an also-ran into a solid pennant contender, signed a three-year contract Tuesday for $675,000.

The previous top salary in baseball was negotiated by Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves, who is in the second of a three-year contract for $600,000.

Allen's remark on the contract was: "I can't count that high."

The White Sox' first baseman wasn't the only slugger signed to a six-figure pact Tuesday. Frank Robinson of the California Angels, acquired from the Dodgers in an off-season deal, signed a two-year contract for a reported $300,000.

"We have recognized what he has done in the past and what he can do in the future for us," said Angels General Manager Harry Dalton.

Allen, who will be 31 next month, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1964. He was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals where he played one year before being traded to the Dodgers for another one-year stint.

When he learned about his trade to the White Sox, Allen reportedly was reluctant to sign. He finally came to terms for $130,000 and turned out to be a bargain.

He led the American League with 37 home runs and 118 runs batted in and his .308 average was only 10 points shy of batting champion Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player and proved to be a boon for the White Sox gate.

"I'm excited about this ball club after the way we played last season," said Allen. "There's no doubt in my mind that we can win the pennant."

Slugger Rusty Staub agreed to a three-year, $330,000 deal with the New York Mets—but General Manager Bob Scheffing said a fringe benefit clause was holding up the contcact signing.

"There's something Rusty wants, but I don't want to give it to him," Scheffing said.

Cincinnati Reds' catcher Johnny Bench, who underwent surgery for a benign lesion in his right lung during the offseason, said he could not forsee any problems with his throwing arm.

"Iv'e been throwing for two days and there's nothing but the normal stiffness you get after tw doays," Bench said.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said in Boston that the new three-year agreement between the players and club owners would provide "three years of peace."

It Was Frustrating Night for the Celtics

NEW YORK (AP) — "Name anything you want to name about the game of basketball—they did it well," said Boston captain John Havlicek shortly after his Celtics were drubbed by the New York Knicks 123-91 Tuesday night.

The Knicks were at the top of their game, constantly pressuring the Celtics on defense and hitting their outside shots on offense. They broke the contest open by scoring 18 straight points during the first half, then put it away with a 44-point fourth quarter.

By winning, New York cut Boston's lead in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division race to three games.

"We played good, aggressive defense," declared the Knicks' Dave DeBusschere, who scored eight of those 18 points as New York jumped in front 40-19.

"They had a real frustrating evening," DeBusschere said. "They tried to fast break—and we were back on defense to stop 'em. Bill Bradley did a great job stopping Havlicek, one of Bill's better games."

Havlicek, who's playing despite a painful inflammation in his right knee, sank just four of 21 field goal attempts and was limited to 11 points by Bradley's constant hounding and the Knicks' alert team defense.

Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn put it succinctly: "They just beat us, that's all."

In other NBA games, Detroit defeated Golden State 114-100, Houston beat Buffalo 112-105, Baltimore edged Cleveland 99-95, Atlanta squeezed by Seattle 131-130, Chicago beat Portland 125-110 and Kansas City-Omaha upended Los Angeles 107-103.

In the night's only American Basketball Association clash, Utah beat Kentucky 103-97.

The Knicks had a balanced scoring attack, with Frazier and Phil Jackson being the top men with 20 apiece. Jackson scored 15 of his points in the final period, when both coaches emptied their benches. Bradley tallied 17, DeBusschere 16, Jerry Lucas 15, Earl Monroe 13 and Dean Meminger 10.

For Boston, Don Chaney was high man with 18 points. Dave Cowens added 15 points and hauled down a game-high 17 rebounds.

It was New York's third consecutive victory over Boston and fourth triumph in six meetings this season. Do the Knicks think they can catch the Celtics?

"They've got a lot of games to lose yet in order to make this game worthwhile," observed Lucas, noting that Boston still holds a five-game lead in the loss column.

"I'd rather we didn't beat them so badly," said Frazier. "They'll be all psyched up next time."

Karen and Janet Resume Skating Duel

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Blonde ice queens Karen Mangussen of Canada and Janet Lynn of the United States resume their tight duel today for the women's World Figure Skating title.

Russian pair skaters were on the verge of a one-two championship finish in tonight's wrap-up free-skating section and the Soviets were also favorites in the opening section of the ice dance.

After her gold-medal finishing into the competition's second leg—compulsory free figures, Miss Magnussen held a precarious lead over compulsory section runnerup Miss Lynn of Rockford, Ill., going into Tuesday in the women's compulsory figures counting 20 per cent toward the crown.

With both North American girls excelling in free skating, the battle to find a successor to Austria's Trixie Schuba promised to end in a climatic confrontation Thursday in the free figures windup, counting 40 per cent toward the title.

Riessen Wins Opening Match

CHICAGO (AP) — Top-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, ed Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., started slowly but finished strong to capture his opening match in the $50,000 Kemper Invitational Tennis Tournament Tuesday night.

Riessen finally cut down Denmarks' Torban Ulrich, 6-7, 6-2, 6-3, in his first start of the pro tourney being held at two sites in the opening phase of the weeklong meet.

Riessen had to rally after Ulrich won the 12-point tiebreaker to take the opening set of their match at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall.

Second-seeded Brian Fairlie of New Zealand had an easier first-round triumph in competition at suburban Lake Forest, measuring Zejo Franulovic of Yugoslavia, 6-3, 6-4.

Nine KHS Swimmers in Section One Event

KINGSTON — The Section I swimming championships begin today and nine Kingston High splashers will make what coach Ron Gabriele calls an "optimistic" trip to the White Plains High School pool.

"We are optimistic," said Gabriele. "By all indications Mamaroneck will win it, but we're hoping for third place — second would be a nice surprise."

It would be hard to do much better than that with only nine competitiors, but the Maroons are capable of making some waves. Two strong relay teams and three swimmers entered in two events each make up the KHS contingent.

Mark Davis, Kent St. John, Jack Abernathy and Rick Stuven make up the Kingston 400 yard freestyle relay team. They're seeded third in that event behind Mamaroneck and Yorktown. Davis and St. John also double with Anne St. Denis and Mike Arnold on the 200 medley relay squad where they're ranked sixth.

In the individual races, Paul Hansen has a third seed in the 200 freestyle and a second seed in the 400 freestyle. Jay Rifenbary is rated fifth in the 200 free and fourth in the 100 free. Bob Winrow is the third Maroon, and he's seeded fourth in the individual medley and sixth in the butterfly.

The diving events will be held on Wednesday with the swimming trails on Thursday and the finals on Friday. Eighteen swimmers will compete in the open trials with 12 in each event qualifying for the finals and consolation races on Friday.

"Kingston was third in the A Division trials, and that's a good indication of how the finals will turn out," said Gabriele. Poughkeepsie should win the B Division and Lourdes should take the C Division, and we beat both those teams badly during the season. We should battle it out with Yorktown and White Plains for second. Mamaroneck is just too deep, and they have a real super swimmer in Oscar Stremmel."

Championship seeding with the fastest qualifying times:

Medley relay — Mamaroneck, 1:48.8; New Rochelle, Byram Hills, White Plains; Yorktown; Kingston.

Puck on 'Ego Trip'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If he never knew what it was like to be a goalie before, World Hockey Association referee Ron Ego knows what it's like now. Minnesota netminder Mike Curran made sure of that.

Curran had just completed his fourth shutout of the season, a 3-0 job against Philadelphia Tuesday night, and was still burned up over a penalty Ego had assessed against him in the final two minutes of the game for tripping Johnny McKenzie.

The goalie, who was forced to make eight saves in those final two minutes against the Philadelphia power play, grabbed the puck after the final siren, skated after Ego and threw the rubber at the referee, just the way the Blazers had been firing it at the Minnesota net.

That little indiscretion cost Curran a game misconduct and automatic $50 fine. It could be more when Ego's game report reaches WHA President Gary Davidson.

In other WHA games Tuesday night, Winnipeg took Chicago 5-1, Houston overtook Alberta 5-4 and Ottawa edged Cleveland 2-1.

In the only National Hockey league game played, Chicago downed the New York Islanders 5-3.

"McKenzie is continually skating through the crease and chopping at you all game long," said Curran. "The one time I chopped him back, Ego calls a cheap penalty like that on me. I couldn't believe it. How many goaltenders do you know who get a shutout and lose $50 in the process?"

Bob MacMillan's first period goal gave Minnesota the early lead and Curran protected the slim margin until goals by Ted Hampson and Bill Young provided him with some insurance in the final 16 minutes.

Milt Black and Bobby Hull scored two goals apiece as Winnipeg defeated Chicago. Black's two goals came 30 seconds apart midway through the second period.

Houston won its sixth straight, bouncing from behind to wipe out a 4-1 Alberta lead. Don Grierson, John Schella, Keke Mortson and Paul Popiel scored goals in the first 11 minutes of the third period to give the Aeros the victory.

Guy Trottier's 22nd goal of the season broke a third period tie and gave Ottawa its victory over Cleveland.

Defenseman Bill White scored one goal and then assisted on three other Chicago tallies as the Black Hawks downed the New York Islanders in the only NHL game played.

New Rhinebeck Record

Paul Kane: 42 Pts.

PINE PLAINS — A few people have wondered what would happen if Rhinebeck High School basketball coach Charles Sherman ever turned Paul Kane loose. They got their answer here Tuesday night when Kane, in quest of the Bi-Valley scoring crown, got the green light from Sherman. It came out to 42 points, an 82-41 Rhinebeck victory over Pine Plains, a new school scoring record, and Kane's second consecutive Bi-Valley scoring title.

"He was great all year," exclaimed coach Sherman of his 6-1 junior superstar. "He did everything we asked of him. Tonight we let him go after Hollingsworth (Clyde of Millbrook), and he shot over 50 per cent from the floor."

The game was never a contest as the Bombers were buried 46-22 at halftime under Kane's deadly outside shooting. Eight other Indians got into the scoring column as Ed Vaughn and Elliot Sussin controlled the boards, and Kane found time to hand out a few assists in running the victors' overall record to 15-2.

Hollingsworth led Kane by four points in total scoring before Tuesday's games. Millbrook played Dover, but the Blazer ace had to settle for 30 points and second place.

Rhinebeck and Millbrook will face off for the third time this season at the Ketcham gym Friday in Section I competition. The team's split their regular season matchups, each winning at their home courts.

Rhinebeck placed second to Millbrook in the Bi-Valley this year, but that was a pleasant surprise to Sherman. "I never expected to be this good," the soft-spoken coach said. "I only had two varsity players back — one reserve and a junior. I knew Vaughn would be all right, but I didn't expect a freshman to play the way he did. He played eighth grade basketball a year ago!

"Tonight," he continued, "we started a freshman, two sophomores, a junior and a senior. As young as we are, I just feel terrific about our season."

Only NCAA Can Stop North Carolina State Five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina State basketball team keeps playing like there's no tomorrow—figuratively and literally.

While the nation's No. 2 power wheels on undefeated, it's all academic because a two-year suspension has locker' the Wolfpack ont of theNCAA playoffs.

For that reason, North Carolina Coach Dean Smith was not ready to quit after losing an 82-78 thriller to North Carolina State Tuesday night.

"We'd welcome the chance to play them again," said Smith, whose Tar Heels have lost three close decisions to the Wolfpack this season.

The two could meet in the madcap Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs, which decide the ACC representative to the NCAA's post-season party.

But even if North Carolina State winds up the season undefeated in its 25th game Saturday against Wake Forest and then goes on to sweep through the tough ACC playoffs, the NCAA is a no-no for the Wolfpack. They were put on probation by the NCAA after using alleged illegal recruiting tactics to get star David Thompson.

So Smith was looking forward to another meeting with his arch rivals, hopefully in the ACC playoff finale. That would mean, of course, that seventh-ranked North Carolina would go to the prestigious postseason tourney win or lose.

In another big game Tuesday night, Texas Tech nipped Arkansas 64-63 to win the Southwest Conference and nail down an automatic berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Elsewhere, No. 13 Missouri beat Kansas 79-63; No. 17 St. John's, N.Y., ripped Holy Cross 108-90; New Mexico State blasted West Texas State 108-81; West Virginia tripped Pitt 59-58; Cincinnati coasted past Butler 83-57; Oral Roberts romped over Pan American 116-79 and Army topped Seton Hall 64-61.

Heart Fund Hits $2,544 Jackpot

KINGSTON — Final returns in the Heart Bowling Tournament netted the Mid-Hudson Heart Association a total of $2,544 resulting from the participation of more than 3,000 bowlers in three counties who 'split the pot' with Heart.

The 13 establishments which participated in the tournament and chairmen who conducted it were: Columbia County — Chatham Bowl, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Cross; Hudson Elks Club, James Woodward; Hendrick Hudson Lanes, Brenda Williams; Lara-Bowl, Ray Sheline.

In Greene County it was Hoe Bowl, Kathleen Metzler; Ten Pin Lanes, Jean Dodge; Tick Tock Lanes, Betty Moseley.

The Ulster participants included Saugerties Bowlers Club, Herb Houtman; Brunswick College Lanes Viola Passante; Bowlerama, Rita Senor; Ellenville Bowl-A-Mat, Elbert Milliott; Mid-City Bowlero, Charles Manfro; and Woodstock Lanes, Frank North.

The largest increase over last year's returns in Ulster County was the 60 percent hike at Ferraro's Bowlerama, thanks to the efforts of the chairman, Rita Senor, and the men who helped at the lanes, proprietor John Ferraro, Bob Steinhilber and George Flemings.

Betty Ann Eaton's 643 Third Highest Triple C

Komosa Is MVP In SAA

SAUGERTIES

Don Komosa of the championship Capri 400 team has been named recipient of 'The Bill Straub Award', emblematic of the Saugerties AA Basketball League's Most Valuable Player.

In close balloting, Komosa edged Pistol Pete Koola of the Raiders, 12-10. Others who received votes were: Mike Derrenbacher 6, Rod Chando 5, Ray Lindhorst 2, Warren Gritmon 2 and Dan Heppner one.

Komosa was the rebound king in the SAA for the second straight year, but his total of 189 only edged teammate Ray Lindhorst by three. Mike Derrenbacher ran away with the assists title, his final count of 67 setting a new league record. Jerry Hawkins was a distant second with 50 assists.

Hudson Valley Tires' John Kelly converted 10 of 12 in his final game to win the foul shooting crown with a .768 percentage on 43 for 56, also a new standard.

Gardiner Session Is Slated

GARDINER

The possibility that Gardiner may become the site of a hydro-electric plant and what can be done about it will be the major topic at the meeting of the Gardiner Homeowners' Association which will be held in the Gardiner Reformed Church on Monday, March 12.

Daniel Smiley of Lake Mohonk, administrator of the Mohonk Trust, a non-profit foundation devoted to conservation and education, will be the principal speaker. He will also discuss zoning in Gardiner, especially relating to mountain slopes and adjacent lands, and will comment on the zoning ordinance now being considered by the Gardiner Town Board.

Jerry Williams, Homeowners' Association president, said that the meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. and that the public is invited to attend.

Earthquake Swarm

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — An "earthquake swarm" is gently shaking northern Nevada, the University of Nevada Seismology Station reported Tuesday.

More than 30 temblors have been recorded in the sparsely populated region since Feb. 23, with the strongest registering 3.7 on the Richter Scale.

Dr. Alan Ryall said the epicenter of the swarm was near where the Quinn River crossed Nevada's northern border.

"There are several areas in Nevada where this happens," he said. "But we don't have an explanation for why this occurs."

NOTICE OF SALE
INDEX No. 72-1609

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 22nd day of February, 1973, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the Courthouse, in the City of Kingston and County of Ulster, New York, on the 27th day of March, 1973, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described being as follows:

ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, and being all those three certain lots, pieces or parcels of land lying and being in the City of Kingston and being together on the northeasterly corner of the Old Orchard lot of the parties of the first part (Jansen Hasbrouck and Charlotte O., his wife) and known and distinguished as lots Nos. 14, 15 and 16 of the Old Orchard Lots as laid down on a map made by D. T. Van Buren in 1871, and being together in one plot or block and more particularly described as follows, to wit: Commencing on the side of the old Ulster and Delaware Turnpike Road, being the southerly side thereof on the line of the bounds of the lands of Tompkins and Hedden and running thence westerly along the said southerly side of said turnpike thirty eight feet to Rosanna Street; thence along the easterly side of Rosanna Street southwesterly one hundred and sixty feet to Clifford Street, thence southeasterly about fifty five feet to a point intersecting —— Street; thence easterly sixty three feet to the said line or bounds of land of said Tompkins and Hedden at a point in the old stone fence about one hundred and forty one feet distance southerly from the Ulster and Delaware Turnpike Road aforesaid; thence northerly about one hundred and forty one feet to said turnpike road and the place of beginning.

BEING the same premises conveyed by Walter W. Phillips and Marion Phillips, his wife, to Richard B. Wade and Shirley L. Wode, his wife, by deed dated September 2, 1969 and to be recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage which is given to secure the purchase price.

EMPLOYMENT

ATTENTION JOB APPLICANTS
The Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted ads from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than the legal minimum wage or fail to pay at least time and one-half for overtime hours. The minimum wage for employment covered by the FISA prior to the 1966 Amendments is $1.85 an hour with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. Jobs covered as a result of the 1966 Amendments require $1.80 an hour minimum with overtime pay required after 40 hours a week. For specific information contact the Wage and Hour Office of the U. S. Department of Labor, 231 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452, WYandotte 3-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

SALES & MARKETING CAREERS

Xerox seeks men and women—real achievers who won't stop growing

One reason Xerox sales and marketing professionals are tops in their Field is that we help them build an unbeatable foundation for successful careers.

A degree is preferred plus some business experience that called on your product knowledge, customer problem-solving ability and communicative skills. However, if you are a recent or pending college grad — male or female — we welcome an opportunity to discuss a career in sales with you. We can offer you immediate opportunities and exceptional long term growth.

During your first six months, you will participate in an extensive training program designed to improve your selling skills, and prepare you for a Sales territory in this area, working from White Plains Headquarters.

Upon completion of training you'll assume a Sales Representative position and have the opportunity to utilize your expertise in the challenging and competitive copier/duplicator market. Earnings will be based upon salary plus commission and bonus. You'll also enjoy our liberal fringe benefits including profit sharing.

Your accomplishments can move you quickly along a career path in Marketing with Xerox.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, March 1

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful, unusual day for you to get the backing of those who are in a position to know what can best further your interests. Contact any outlets which can aid you in your advancement, then be with as many persons as possible to gain their goodwill and help. Try to get those in the know to release to you some special knowledge you need.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get together with good friend who can open new doors of opportunity for you. Secure backing for your new plans. Join some group meeting that is most worthwhile.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make a beeline for those important persons you know and gain needed advice and support from them. Buy those mechanical gadgets that will make your work easier and better. Being more cooperative with bigwigs is wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get out to places and be with people who can assist you in putting your most important plans in motion successfully. You find you get ahead fast if you are broad-minded. Take it easy in the evening and rest.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) With all the responsibilities you have, this is a good day to get the support of bigwigs. Sit down with a good adviser and secure the right ideas. Make this a particularly productive day and p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You understand much better how to cooperate more intelligently with associates and get the right results. Find right way to get rid of opposition from an unfriendly source. Think.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Now that you can really understand your associates, come out with the right ideas for mutual advancement. Plan time for shopping for whatever will make you look more charming. Avoid one whose taste is not good.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you step out to places where good friends meet, you can get rid of that slough of despondency you find youself in. You have good ideas, so discuss them and gain support for them as well as advice, data you need. Do some work tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Apply some of your effort to home and make everything there immaculate and harmonious. Plan just how to start an uptrend in your business or personal life and take the right steps in such diections.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Good day to communicate with others and exchange favors, lend a helping hand where needed, and vice versa. State aims, learn about theirs. Shop, run errands, and handle travel matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put those ideas to work that will add to your income appreciably, since you have been thinking about them long enough. Sit down with clever business experts and get their advice. State your aims, problems clearly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You should be lighthearted today and can pursue your aims in a most efficent manner and get right results. Go out socially in p.m. and have further success. Make new vital friends of worth.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You feel high-powered and want to go after your aims in a most forceful way, but do not confide your plans to others and be more diplomatic. Learn from others how to get along better with your fellowman. Think.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those charming young people who appears to be full of understanding and helpfulness toward others. However, the main aim here is to become popular and learn from others, which is fine provided you, as parents, screen the individuals your child cultivates while young. Then the big talents in this chart are brought out successfully. Give music lessons, also.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

By JEAN ADAMS

BAD YEAR: (Q) I really like Ronnie. He's really nice. All last year he stared at me — at least I thought he did. So I thought he liked me.

But now I almost never see him in the hall, so I can't say "Hi" to him. I never get to talk to him.

I'm a little shy, anyway. How do I get him to ask me out? That's what I want more than anything else.

UNHAPPY IN INDIANA

(A) Last year you had schedules that brought you together in the halls. This year your schedules are different.

Find out the routes he takes and manage to pass him every day.

When you see him don't let your shyness keep you from smiling at him and speaking to him.

If he seems friendly, give him your telephone number and ask him to call you sometime. If not, look for another boy who is friendly.

* * *

SKATING: (Q) I want to train to be a professional roller skater. My parents are bitterly against the idea. They say it will interfere with my school and that I am too intelligent to spend my life skating and getting bumps and bruises and maybe my head split open.

What do you think? There is a course starting here soon and I want to be in it.

NEARLY 16 IN PENNSYLVANIA

(A) Until you complete your high school education, do not start anything that will prevent you from taking a full course and keeping on top of it.

But if you can take the skating course and still keep up your studies, and if your parents can afford the expense, I would approve of it.

A teenaged has to make his own decisions about his future. He has to seek out his own life preferences. He may make mistakes but this cannot be helped. You may never be a professional roller skater. It is a hard life and takes skill, strength and perseverance.

But if it is your preference, you should find out about it now. Should the course be disappointing, you will still have time to choose some other field.

16 Soap Operas, 14 Games

NEW YORK (AP)—It may stagger the mind, but the three television networks currently are broadcasting 16 soap operas and 14 game shows in the daytime, Monday through Friday.

The mind-staggering is destined to continue, even though CBS has announced a major shuffle in its mid-morning and afternoon schedule. The network's daytime lineup now consists of eight soap operas, three game shows and one-talk-variety program.

The new look at CBS, starting March 6, will give daytime viewers two new game shows — "The $10,000 Pyramid" and "Hollywood's Talking" — and a soap opera, "The Young and the Restless."

Those being shown the door are two soap operas, "Where the Heart Is," which began in September 1969, and "Love Is a Many-Splendored Things," born on Sept. 18, 1967.

A third victim of the shuffle is "The Vin Sculley Show," a talk-variety effort that began only last Jan. 15 is the network's 4-4:30 p.m. time slot.

That show, which succeeded reruns of a situation comedy called "Family Affair," is being replaced in its time slot by "the Secret Storm," a 20-year veteran now on from 3:30 to 4 p.m.

It's the second big daylight change for CBS, once the leader in the daytime Nielsen ratings. At the heart of both is the fact that the ratings race now is a very tight, three-network affair.

But the battle has accomplished one thing. There aren't any more situation comedy reruns on CBS.

The network, in its first big schedule change, banished three rerun comedy shows and put in their place three game shows —"The Joker Is Wild," "The New Price is Right" and "Gambit."

Putting on the Sculley show was somewhat of a departure from the soap-and-game format on daytime network television. The only other network talk-variety show on in the daytime is Dinah Shore's 10 a.m. show on NBC.

Why the Scully show dopped so quickly?

The audience just wouldn't buy a late afternoon network talk show, according to B. Donald Grant, CBS vice president for daytime programs.

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas won the McKenney trophy for 1972. As such, he is the first non-Californian to win this trophy, given to the player winning the most master points during a calendar year, since Oswald Jacoby, also of Dallas, won it in 1963.

Today's hand shows John managing a 4-3 trump fit to get a top score in a regional open pair.

Barry Crane of Los Angeles, the 1971 McKenney winner, raised John from two to three spades in spite of holding only three trumps in support of what was almost surely just a four-card suit.

He had faith in John's dummy play and John certainly did not disappoint him.

John ruffed the second heart and proceeded to cash his king and the queen of trumps. If he had led a third round the hand would have collapsed, but John knew better than to do that. He objected to the defense collecting a trump trick, but he couldn't afford to let them hold the last trump.

Therefore, John simply started on diamonds. West trumped the third diamond with one of his two trumps and did the best he could by leading out the last trump. John came to his hand with the ace of clubs and cashed the last two diamonds and dummy's club king to give him a plus score of 620, thereby beating those Souths who had bid and made the easy diamond game.

Fighting Subsides...Only 100 Violations Reported

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting subsided across South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos today with official spokesmen reporting a drop in Communist attacks. But U.S. officials said more American warplanes bombed targets in Cambodia.

The South Vietnamese command reported 100 violations of the month-old truce in the 24 hour period ending today at dawn, the lowest total since Feb. 5 when 89 violations were reported.

The heaviest clashes occurred in the Central Highlands where 39 Communists were killed and 12 government troops wounded 200 miles north of Saigon in Pleiku and Binh Dinh provinces.

In Cambodia, the only country in Indochina without an official cease-fire, government forces recaptured the Mekong River port city of Banam without a struggle Tuesday. It was the first time the government had occupied the town since Communist Khmer Rouge guerrillas began their offensive in late January.

The U.S. Pacific command said B52s and jet fighter-bombers continued bombing operations in Cambodia "at the request of the Cambodian government."

American warplanes have pounded the newly recaptured town of Banam daily and the town is little more than rubble, military spokesmen said.

Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, reported fighting around Svay Rieng, 78 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, near Kompong Cham, 78 miles northeast of the capital, and along Highway 2, about 12 miles south of the city.

The intensity of fighting also dropped off in Laos.

Government spokesmen said the number of cease fire violations dropped to 10 in the 24 hours ended at noon (midnight Tuesday EST) compared with 18 on Tuesday. Casualties were listed at 16 dead on both the government and Communist sides.

As the combat lessened, the royalist government of Premier Souvanna Phouma and Pathet Lao Communists said they agreed to hold their first formal meetings to discuss policing the cease-fire agreement they signed last week.

The two sides said they would meet Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

POW Dispute...Expect Early Break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Diplomatic officials said today they expected an early break in the dispute over the release by Hanoi and the Viet Cong of additional American prisoners of war.

One authority close to the situation said he would not be surprised if, before today is over, the North Vietnamese turned over to U.S. officials a list of more American prisoners to be released this week.

Since the Vietnam cease-fire and peace agreement clearly gave North Vietnam no right to drag its feet on releasing U.S. war prisoners, the assumption here was that Hanoi was stalling primarily as a propaganda ploy.

The view in official quarters here was that Hanoi could not persist very long in its refusal to hand over more prisoners because the stakes were too high—not only for North Vietnam and the United States but for Russia, China and the other countries which have invested their prestige in securing and endorsing an agreement to finally bring a semblance of peace and stability to turbulent Southeast Asia.

The cease-fire and peace agreement which went into effect Jan. 27 specifically made the release of U.S. war prisoners conditional only on simultaneous withdrawal of U.S. forces, which has proceeded at a greater rate than the prisoner release.

Nevertheless, the spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation in Saigon, Bui Tin, said Tuesday that no further U.S. prisoners of war would be released until three conditions were met:

—Saigon must quit stalling its release of civilian captives it holds.

—The United States and South Vietnam must live up to all of the terms of the general cease-fire agreement.

—Greater protection must be provided for the Hanoi representatives on the International Commission for Supervision and Control of the cease-fire.

All three demands were clearly out of order, since the release of American prisoners of war was not conditional on any other actions.

London Strike Causes Traffic Chaos

LONG WAIT—This man sitting in front of the blank departures board at Waterloo Station in London is in for a long wait as British Rail announced that no passenger trains would run today due to a 24 hour strike by loco drivers. (UPI Telephoto)

LONDON (UPI) — The latest in a series of "strike-a-day" industrial walkouts halted trains and disrupted subway service today, stranding tens of thousands of commuters, creating traffic chaos and leaving many shivering in their homes and at work in freezing weather.

Trains throughout the country stopped running completely and London's subway service was reduced 50 per cent by workers who walked off their jobs for 24 hours in the unions' nationwide strike campaign. Gas workers turned off heating to homes, factories, businesses, movie theaters and restaurants.

International travelers entering and leaving the country received a respite with customs officials and air traffic controllers at Heathrow Airport ending a strike that caused serious congestion Tuesday. Seaports also started working normally again.

More than 250,000 other civil servants also ended their first official strike on record and teachers in London returned to the classrooms.

The teachers strike ended dramatically with scores of them attacking their own union officials at a London rally for acting too moderately. Scuffles broke out amid booing and hissing, forcing union leaders to flee.

As the teachers fought, auto workers announced they would start closing down Ford Motor Co. plants throughout the country Thursday.

The concerted strikes were called to protest the Prime Minister Edward Heath's three-month-old pay and price freeze. The strikes, observers said, are rapidly developing into the worst confrontation between the government and unions since a paralyzing 1926 general strike.

Union leaders predicted 700,000 of the nation's workers would participate in the protests, which have now affected virtually everyone in the country.

Close Battle Expected

DUBLIN (UPI) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch said the fate of his ruling Fianna Fail party may depend on one result in an election today for a new parliament. Opposition politicians, strengthened by a pre-election unity agreement, forecast a close battle.

Twelve hours of voting by an expected 1.7 million persons will end at 4 p.m. EST but the counting of ballots will not start until early Thursday.

"It will be a tight one," a government spokesman said when asked to predict the outcome of what politicians called Ireland's bitterest election campaign.

"A couple of seats may decide the winner," an opposition spokesman said.

The 56-year-old Lynch, who dissolved parliament Feb. 5 and ordered elections now, said it was possible his Fianna Fail party would capture 75 of the 144 seats in parliament. But he added that the result might depend on as little as one seat.

In addition to internal splits within his party, Lynch was faced for the first time in 16 years with a pre-election coalition of Fine Gael and Labor parties.

The opposition agreement meant that under Ireland's complicated voting system, the two parties could transfer its votes to each other in close races.

The Fianna Fail, which has governed the country for 34 of its 51 years of independence, held 69 seats against 67 for the combined opposition. There also were six independents, five of them Fianna Fail rebels, and two vacant seats.

It was the first nationwide voting since Lynch's cabinet was split in early 1970 by an arms smuggling scandal that resulted in four ministers leaving, two of them to stand trial on charges of trying to send arms north to fellow Roman Catholics in Northern Ireland.

Meanwhile in Belfast, a 13-year-old boy police sources said was a suspected sniper died of gunshot wounds early today, 24 hours after the British army said its troops would fire even on children if they took up arms in Northern Ireland's violence.

The boy, identified only as a 13-year-old Roman Catholic, died in a hospital in the border town of Newry just after soldiers said they hit a sniper firing at them.

Police sources said they suspected the boy was the sniper, but said official word must await ballistic tests. An army spokesman said a soldier saw the body of the gunman fall from a window, but that Catholic mobs prevented troops from reaching him.

A little later, the boy turned up at a Newry hospital suffering fresh gunshot wounds. He died on the operating table.

He was the 732nd person to die in 3½ years of political and religious strife among Catholic and Protestant extremists, the Irish Republican Army and British security forces.

An army spokesman warned early Tuesday that British troops would fire even on children if they became involved in the bombing and shooting.

"Parents must realize that to let their children get involved in any way is extremely dangerous," an army spokesman said. "It is only a matter of time before a tragedy occurs."
